ELEVEN BLOWN INTO HALIFAX HARBOR BY EXPLOSION ON BOAT

Terrific Blast Shakes Waterfront When Yacht Carrying Women and Children Blows Up—Two Women Are in Grave Condition After Saving Little Ones From Drowning

HALIFAX, Aug. 26 (P).—Buildings along the Halifax waterfront were shaken tonight by a terrific explosion on the auxiliary-equipped schooner-yacht Kinara, and six of the eleven persons aboard, mostly women and children, were thrown into Halifax Harbor by the force of the blast.

Flames quickly spread over the fifty-foot pleasure craft and those aboard were badly burned. All eleven persons were taken to hospital after being saved from the burning hulk or pulled from the water.

Condition of two of the women, Mrs. David MacKeen, of Ottawa, and Mrs. Harry N. MacKeen, of Halifax, daughter of Hon. L. P. D. Tilley, of Saint John, N.B., was said to be "grave."

The fire-swept yacht, formerly known as Buccanier II, was owned by John C. MacKeen, of Halifax.

ENVELOPED CHILDREN
The yacht had been cruising about the harbor and had just completed refueling, the lines having been cast off. David MacKeen turned the key in the ignition switch and the next instant flames sprayed over the deck, enveloping the children. Thrown into the water, Mrs. J. C. MacKeen and Mrs. David MacKeen, formerly of Halifax, but now a resident of Ottawa, each grasped two of the children as they splashed about. They held them above water until help came.

Picture of Happy Life Is Spoiled

BOONTON, N.J., Aug. 26 (P).—The picture of a mouse and a sparrow living happily with two poisonous snakes ended abruptly today when the rodent and bird were found dead.

No one saw them die, so no one could say whether the copperhead or the rattlesnake had bitten them after living in the same cage for three months.

Captain of Ss. Atlantic City Says He Could Not Hear Fog Horn or Wireless Signals Off Race Rocks When Ship Struck—Experts Are Puzzled by the Freak "Blanket"

THE freak radio period of silence on Tuesday morning that is so mystifying to scientists and wireless experts along the Pacific Coast may have been responsible for the holing of the freighter Atlantic City, off Race Rocks, in the Strait of Juan de Fuca, it was learned last night. Captain W. A. Doughty, of the disabled vessel, stated, when the big freighter was finally entered at drydock, that he was unable to hear the fog horn at Race Rocks, nor was he able to pick up radio beacon signals from the shore at the time that the Atlantic City holed her hull.

Round Trip Across Atlantic Is Now Set For Start Tomorrow

NEW YORK, Aug. 26 (P).—Pilot Dick Merrill and Harry Richmond, singer, arrived back in New York tonight after a ten-day flight to Boston in preparation for their projected trans-Atlantic hop.

Announcing they would probably take off Friday on the round trip to London, they said they planned a longer experimental flight to Newfoundland and back tomorrow.

Rioting Ends Senate Vote To Dissolve

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 26 (P).—Ten persons were injured tonight as chairs, flots and jets of water were hurled in a riot in the Senate Chambers.

Factions battled when a Left Wing bloc of senators met to vote their own dissolution. Fifty police reserves were called to restore order and to eject the trouble makers.

A secret session of the Chamber of Deputies, it was learned reliably, previously accepted President Laro Cardenas' request to dissolve Left Wing bloc which had supported him.

Two Injured In Accident

Ronald Welton and Miss Peggy Stanley Seriously Hurt in Traffic Smash

Riding double on a motorcycle when it was in collision with an automobile at the intersection of Port and Ormond Streets, two young Victoria people were seriously injured at 7:25 o'clock last night and are in hospital.

They are: Ronald Welton, Westholme Hotel, driver of the motorcycle, and Miss Peggy Stanley, 931 Macdonald Street, passenger with Mr. Welton.

Miss Stanley was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital and was found to have a complicated compound fracture of the lower left leg. Mr. Welton, who is in Royal Jubilee Hospital, is suffering from a compound fracture of the left forearm and injured right foot. Both were reported in fair condition at a late hour last night.

According to information obtained by the police, the motorcycle was going west on Port Street and at Campbell Street it collided with an automobile driven by Mrs. H. MacKenzie Cleland, M.D., 424 Linden Avenue. The automobile was turning off Port Street to go north on Ormond when the accident occurred.

MURDER TRIAL IS CRITICIZED

American Bar Association Condemns Publicity in Hauptmann Case

BOSTON, Aug. 26 (P).—Condemnation of sensational "excesses" that marked the Hauptmann murder trial, embodied in a report of a special committee on "publicity in criminal trials," stirred the American Bar Association tonight.

Judge Oscar Hallam, of St. Paul, chairman of the special committee, read the report today before the section on criminal law.

The report criticized Governor Harold G. Hoffman of New Jersey, for "indulging in public discussion of the merits of the case established in court," members of the jury for issuing "paid interviews," Dr. John F. Jaffee, of London, a magazine article as "decidedly out of place," and the publicity attendant upon the trial.

NOT AUTHORIZED
Judge Hallam had hardly finished delivering the report before William L. Ransom, president of the Bar Association, issued a statement terminating its publication unauthorized.

The St. Paul judge defended his course with the statement: "The committee which made the report was appointed by its section and the report was made before the proper forum."

NEW TREATY With Egypt Is Signed

LONDON, Aug. 26 (P).—A new Anglo-Egyptian treaty, hailed as inaugurating a new era in relations between the East and the West, was signed today.

Under the new treaty, the British military occupation of Egypt is terminated. British troops will be moved from Cairo to new quarters along the Suez Canal. But Great Britain will maintain a military air base at Alexandria.

Signing of the treaty, in the same room where the Treaties of Locarno were signed ten years ago, concluded five months of negotiations between British and Egyptian leaders. Anthony Eden, Foreign Secretary, and Mustapha El Nahas Pasha, Egyptian Prime Minister, both emphasized the historic importance of the treaty.

The text of the new undertaking will be made public on Friday.

TROTSKY GIVES NEW ASSURANCE

Signs Agreement With Norwegian Government To Be Good

OSLO, Norway, Aug. 26 (P).—Leon Trotsky, the exiled Russian Bolshevik, tonight signed an agreement pledging himself to refrain from any revolutionary activities.

He signed only after an official deputation to his home had told him that immediate arrest would be his only alternative.

Police immediately took up positions around his home at Hoenfoss, indicating that in the future Trotsky would be kept under constant surveillance.

Trotsky declined to say tonight whether he would apply for renewal of a permit to remain in the country after December 18, but it was believed the Government likely would grant such a request if it were made.

Norway has already granted the exile one extension of his permit.

BLAMES NAZIS
Preliminary court investigations meanwhile were continued against persons described as Nazis, who are accused of raiding Trotsky's home in a frustrated attempt to obtain certain documents which they believed in the exile's possession.

The agreement which the exile signed today was the outgrowth of charges made against him in Moscow that he had been the instigator of a plot to overthrow the Soviet regime in Russia—a plot for which sixteen confessed conspirators were executed earlier in the week.

Canada Took Large Part in Creation of New British Empire

Lord Tweedsmuir Traces Growth and Suggests Consideration of Future Course in Statesmanlike Address to Vancouver Canadian Club

VANCOUVER, Aug. 26 (P).—Canada had every reason to be interested in the new British Empire, for it was largely of Canadian blood, Lord Tweedsmuir said in an address to the Canadian Club today.

He traced Empire growth to the days of its present conception and asked of its future course.

On one point it must get its ideas clear, its security in a distressed world and what contribution it could make to that international peace on which depended the security of civilization.

Cutting Salaries Is Opening Move Of New Premier

QUEBEC, Aug. 26 (P).—One of the first moves of Quebec's new Premier, Hon. Maurice Duplessis, after taking office today, was to cut his own salary and those of his Cabinet Ministers. He also announced plans to reduce seasonal indemnities of members of the Legislative Assembly.

The Premier rushed through an order-in-council cutting his salary from $14,000 annually to $12,000. His Cabinet Ministers each received a cut from $8,000 to $7,000.

Wave After Wave of Charging Troops Hurdled Back During Day of Bloody Fighting—Purges of Fascists Spread Throughout Spain—White Flag Has Been Hoisted at Toledo

Dr. Schacht in Paris on Economic Peace Mission

HENDAYE, Aug. 26 (P).—Casualties suffered by both sides were believed tonight to have been heavier in a furious, day-long battle between rebel attackers and Government defenders of the Irun frontier. Tonight Government forces still were in control of Irun, after hurling back repeated charges throughout the day by fighting men of the rebel general, Emilio Mola.

The sound of bursting shells continued into the night, but the rebel attack apparently had ceased. Cannon manned by Government crews drove back waves after waves of rebel troops charging behind crack units of foreign legionnaires.

WOUNDED MAN LIVED IN B.C.

W. H. Fraser, Shot in Mexico, Formerly Worked at Vancouver for B.C.E.R.

VANCOUVER, Aug. 26 (P).—W. H. Fraser, general manager of the Mexican Light & Power Co., who was shot and seriously injured in Mexico City Tuesday, was electrical superintendent in Vancouver of the British Columbia Electric Railway Co., prior to 1918. He left Vancouver to work on the Mexico City project about that time.

SERIOUS CONDITION
MEXICO CITY, Aug. 26 (P).—W. H. Fraser, general manager of the Mexican Light & Power Company, was given only an even chance today to survive an assassin's bullet.

Doctors were unable to remove the bullet, which penetrated Fraser's spine last night when he was shot through the back by a former employee.

Police identified the assailant as Pedro Chavez Luis.

They said he fired twice at Fraser and then was shot with his own gun after an employee wrested it from him.

CHANCES GOOD
Luis' condition was considerably improved and physicians said his chances to live were better. Police said Luis told them he shot Fraser because the utility manager refused to discuss "an unjust discharge."

The Mexican Light & Power Company is Canadian and Belgian-owned and its head office is in Toronto. Fraser, who has been in Mexico for about eighteen years, was formerly an executive of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company of Vancouver.

MAJOR HONOR IS WON BY NANAIMO

First Awards for Coal and By-Products Taken at Vancouver Exhibition

VANCOUVER, Aug. 26 (P).—Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir Ltd.), of Nanaimo, and the Vancouver Island Chamber of Mines walked off with major honors in the coal exhibit at today's opening of the Canada Pacific Exhibition.

The Nanaimo coal company received first award for their display, while the Island Chamber of Mines was awarded a first for a display of by-products and a special prize for the entire exhibition which it sponsored.

To the end of July there were 258 alarms turned in, while last year there were six less for the same period. The department has sent out 137 preventive notices, concerning structures where real fire hazards existed, a fire department official said.

MANY INSPECTIONS
So far this year members of the department have made 5,867 inspections. This, they said, was carried out by firemen, although efforts had been made to secure an additional man to the fire staff to attend to this work only.

During the remaining portion of 1936 the preventive campaign in Victoria will continue, it was said, and an appeal was sent out to all citizens to co-operate with the department in making 1936 a record year for low fire losses in Victoria.

YOUTH KILLED IN LOGGING MISHAP

Tommy Haines Meets Death at Nanaimo When He Falls From Pole in Woods

NANAIMO, Aug. 26 (P).—Seventeen-year-old Tommy Haines, whose home is at Clayburn, B.C., was instantly killed today at the C. & W. Logging Camp, Nanaimo district, sixteen miles north of Nanaimo.

The youth was engaged in hauling a telegraph pole from the woods with a horse when the pole caught between two stumps and jerking clear struck Haines on the neck. Dr. Giovando was summoned, but death had been instantaneous. The body was removed to the Jenkins Park, where it is likely an inquest will be held on Friday.

Magistrate Jay Says Farewell to Friends At End of Long Term

Lawyers and Victoria Police Court Officials Take Part in Solemn Ceremony—Henry Charles Hall Is Tendered Greetings

"AND so, I will now say farewell." With these words Magistrate George Jay stepped down from the bench in Victoria police court yesterday morning on his seventy-fifth birthday and completion of twenty-nine years' service to the city and surrounding municipalities.

Solemnly lawyers, policemen and spectators stood as the venerable magistrate left the court and entered his private office for the last time.

On entering the court, Magistrate Jay was greeted by Chief of Police Thomas Heatley. Referring to pleasant associations of the past, the chief said it gave him great regret to see the magistrate retire.

In tendering his sincere regrets, A. D. Crease, president of Victoria Bar Association, declared there was no appeal from the march of time. Recalling a number of city chairmen of years ago, Mr. Crease hoped the magistrate would crystallize his twenty-nine years' experience into literature.

HIGHLY RESPECTED
Mayor David Leeming assured the magistrate no man in the city of Victoria held personal respect equal to that of George Jay. He sincerely wished him peace and happiness in his retirement.

F. C. Elliott congratulated the magistrate on being able to truly realize he was retiring with a job well done throughout his years on the bench. Harold Beckwith reiterated the same statement.

Claude L. Harrison, city prosecutor, with bowed head told the magistrate he knew what they all thought of him.

Visibly moved, Magistrate Jay stood up.

"I deeply appreciate all the kindly words, and I also appreciate the courtesy received from members of the bar," he said. "Mr. Harrison's ability, experience and knowledge of the Criminal Code has been very advantageous to me in carrying out my duties. I also wish to heartily thank all other officials connected with this court. I congratulate Chief of Police Heatley on his efficient force, and I feel it will continue to be so under his direction. And so I will now say farewell," the magistrate concluded.

WELCOMED BY CHIEF
Henry Charles Hall, K.C., the new magistrate, was welcomed by Chief of Police Heatley. He hoped their relations would always be most cordial.

Mr. Crease asserted nothing was more important to the well-being of a city than the administration of justice. With Mr. Hall's thorough knowledge of criminal law and his humanity, he looked forward to the police court bench being filled in a manner highly satisfactory to all.

Mayor Leeming felt Magistrate Hall would face and meet all difficulties ably and dispense good British justice. Referring to the Police Commission, of which Magistrate Hall automatically becomes a member, the Mayor believed it to be the right kind for the city and beneficial to the police force.

Mr. Elliott and Mr. Beckwith both told of knowing Magistrate Hall for many years. They felt justice would be impartially dispensed for the benefit of the city and surrounding municipalities. Mr. Harrison was glad to associate his remarks with those of Mr. Elliott and Mr. Beckwith.

TENDERS THANKS
"Thank you, indeed, for your most kind remarks," said Magistrate Hall. "I hope to be able to live up to them. I pay tribute to my predecessor for the way in which he upheld the dignity of the position, for his patience and for his fairness. I hope to carry on justice with fairness to all."

Mayor Leeming stepped forward and handed Magistrate Hall a vase of sweet peas and baby's breath. He hoped the court would be brightened by flowers at least twice a week.

Then Magistrate Hall gave his decision on his first case, a traffic offence.

Retirement of seventy-year-old Louis Alexandre Taschereau during the last Legislative session.

RESIGNED AT NOON
Mr. Godbout, personally defeated with most of his Cabinet members in the election which gave the Union Nationale party led by Mr. Duplessis seventy-seven of the ninety Legislative seats, tendered his resignation to Lieutenant-Governor Patenaude at noon.

The new Premier received an ovation from the crowd, so large in the vicinity of the Legislative Buildings it was decided to hold the swearing-in ceremony in the chamber of the Legislative Council instead of in the office of Mr. Patenaude.

REPORT STALIN BROADCASTING

English Paper Credits Him With Prophecies War As Imminent

LONDON, Aug. 26 (AP)—Soviet Dictator Joseph Stalin. The Evening News said today, in a speech broadcast to every barracks and parade ground in Russia declared "war is imminent."

In Moscow tonight the Russian Government officially denied Stalin or any other army leader had broadcast a speech today. It was said Stalin never speaks over the radio, and that reports to this effect were "canards of suspicious origin."

"At any moment you may be called to lay down your lives in protection of the proletarian homeland," Stalin was quoted by the newspaper as having told Russia's soldiers.

"We are on the very eve of momentous events. Enemies are getting into position—so be ready."

Reporting Stalin's words as contained in one of the "three most warlike speeches Russia's fighting forces ever heard," the newspaper said they were broadcast along with militaristic speeches by Klement E. Voroshilov, Commissar of War and Marine; Marshal Mikhail Tukhachevsky, Vice-Commissar of Defence, and M. Aleksis-Astrov, head of the military air force.

STORIED SPOTS FROM SEA TO SEA
By W. J. Banks, B.A.

Fort Jemseg Memorial, N.B.

In 1654 an English fleet took the French settlements in Acadia and three years later Oliver Cromwell named as Governor Colonel Thomas Temple. In 1659 Temple built a fort at Jemseg, the first post ever erected by the English on the St. John River. Charles II confirmed Temple's authority, but in 1667 the Treaty of Breda restored Acadia to the French. After refusing to retire for a time, the stubborn colonel finally gave way to a French governor, de Grandfontaine.

Fort Jemseg, not far from the confluence of the St. John and Jemseg Rivers, was used as an Indian trading centre. The most important incident in its history was its capture by a Dutch force in 1674. The United Provinces, at war with England and France, sent a strong naval force to America and regained Manhattan.

Aug. Charles then made a peace by which he recovered this lost. But France carried on the war and the Dutch ships under Aernouts attacked the Acadian settlements.

Aernouts captured the French fort at Pentaguet, taking the governor of Acadia prisoner. Then he sailed to St. John and taking a force up the river captured Fort Jemseg and its commandant, de Marson. Acadia was proclaimed a Dutch possession and called New Holland, but soon the Dutch were ousted by a force from New England. Later France once more obtained possession of the colony. Jemseg was rebuilt in 1690 by Villebon, but two years later the French abandoned it for a more suitable location. Near the modern highway a handsome monument has been erected by the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada to mark the site of ancient Jemseg.

Killed by Missile Propelled by Saw

CHICAGO, Aug. 26 (P)—George Stevens, sixty-four, was shot to death by a saw, Columbus Hospital physicians decided. He died of an infection which they learned developed after a circular saw with which he was cutting a piece of wood ripped out a nail and shot it into his body under one arm.

MURDER TRIAL IS CRITICIZED

The section on criminal law accepted the report, however, and referred it to the association's executive committee.

The report also condemned "trial by newspapers," terming "fundamentally wrong the system of the public press arguing the case outside the court."

BLAMES GOVERNOR
The report termed Governor Hoffman's activities particularly "repugnant" because he was also a member of New Jersey's Court of Pardons, which twice considered appeals of Bruno Richard Hauptmann for commutation of his death sentence for murdering the infant son of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh.

The committee approved Judge Thomas W. Trenchard's conduct of the trial and offered recommendations designed to reform courtroom procedure.

One of the suggestions would forbid the use of cameras in courtroom, another the use of radio, and a third would prohibit "vaudeville appearances" by jurors after trials.

TURKEYS FATTEN IN WAR ON CRICKETS

HUNTSVILLE, Utah, Aug. 26 (P)—Fat and full of crickets, 84,000 turkeys were returned to their ranch homes in this section today after seven weeks of service in a Central Utah war on insects.

The birds, shipped to Tooele and Juab Counties last July when farmers called for help against an invasion of crickets, cleaned out miles of land and millions of crickets.

Governor Relates How Kipling Said B.C. Was Paradise

His Excellency Tells Charming Story at Opening Of Vancouver Exhibition, Which Coincided With His Own Birthday—Large Crowds

VANCOUVER, Aug. 26 (P)—Lord Tweedsmuir and Vancouver today celebrated their birthdays together. Sixty-one years ago the Governor-General was born at Perth, Scotland, and today he opened the Canada Pacific Exhibition, climax event of the golden jubilee of a metropolis eleven years younger than he.

Sunshine which has been practically unbroken through two months of festivity greeted the Governor-General as he saw the city in the most colorful array in its history. His words to its citizens in a day of ceremonies and addresses, were of its future as a Pacific gateway, and of the parts the city, Canada and the British Empire must play in world events.

GREAT PARADE
Before the opening of the Exhibition, scores of thousands jammed downtown streets, where a monster parade was a central spectacle—a parade of magnificent floats which took two hours to pass a given spot. As the last floats left the starting point the first were returning home after touring miles of city streets. When it was over it was practically impossible to get a meal or refreshment downtown, so jammed were eating places with customers, while long lines remained in the streets.

RECALLS KIPLING
Opening the Exhibition, the Governor-General remarked: "I remember that Mr. Kipling, who had traveled in most parts of the globe, once told me he had found many places that he admired and some that he loved; but that he had discovered only one earthly paradise, and that was British Columbia. I can see no reason to differ from that verdict. You have created a wonderful metropolis with the noblest natural background in the world."

The linking of Canada by a transcontinental railway fifty years ago His Excellency termed a miracle of which familiarity had dulled our perception.

WINDOW OF CANADA
"In the destiny of Canada," he continued, "Vancouver must play a vital—I had almost said dominant—part. For she is the window out of which Canada looks towards the East. She is the gateway to the Pacific. Fifty-five deep-sea lines use her harbor. She clears annually 12,000,000 tons of shipping; she is the chief winter grain port of the world. It is not for me to forecast the future, but it is very clear that the East and the Pacific must play a major part in international affairs. It may well be that Vancouver will become the strategic vantage point in the economy of Canada and the Empire."

SQUABBLE OVER BABIES' BASKET

Quintuplets' Bassinet Is the Cause of Police Court Case

NORTH BAY, Ont., Aug. 26 (P)—A butcher's basket, first bassinet of the Dionne quintuplets, figured in a court action here today. Mrs. Alex Legros, quintuplet midwife, laid an assault charge against Harvey Slimrod, Sydney Brown and Mildred Adams, employers of a souvenir booth twelve miles southeast of here, near the birthplace of the famous children.

Last week Mrs. Legros, owner of the basket, took it to her home across the road for safe-keeping, claiming that souvenir hunters were mutilating it. She said the three accused later invaded her home and treated her roughly in their efforts to restore the basket to its place of honor in the souvenir booth.

Magistrate J. H. McCurry thought the whole matter much ado about nothing and dismissed the charges.

CORPS COMPLETES ANNUAL TRAINING

Units of 11th Battalion, Canadian Machine Gun Corps, Leave Camp At Heals Range

Completing their annual period of training at Heals Range, units of the 11th Battalion, Canadian Machine Gun Corps, have returned to their headquarters. The annual camp was concluded with a march past, with Lieutenant-Colonel Russell Whitelaw taking the salute, and the presentation of trophies won during the past year. Lieutenant-Colonel Whitelaw is honorary colonel of the battalion.

The battalion, which is commanded by Lieutenant-Colonel Francis Layton, V.D., consists of headquarters and "B" companies, located at Vancouver; "A" company, Victoria, and "C" company, Mission. Training was carried out under officers from the permanent force at West Point and included tactical manoeuvres, night firing and machine gun and revolver classification tests.

UNIT COMPLEMENTED
At the conclusion of the march past, Lieutenant-Colonel Whitelaw complimented officers and men on their showing during the year. Among the trophies presented were for mass efficiency range practice, machine guns, general individual efficiency, signaling, and for the best company in the Canadian Corps, which carried with it the Brutinel Trophy.

Colonel H. C. Greer, acting D.O.C. for M.D. 11, paid his respects to Lieutenant-Colonel Whitelaw, Lieutenant-Colonel Layton, Major W. R. Bradley, second in command; Major A. B. Noble, commanding "C" company, and to Lieutenant-Colonel F. J. Simpson, O.C. 47th New Westminster Regiment, who attended camp as an observer.

THINK TWICE!

Get Protection from Blow-outs and Skids with Goodrich Safety Silvertowns

Blow-out Witness: "Cheer up little girl... be a brave soldier. Nobody's hurt and your daddy will have the car fixed up as good as new."

Stop and think this over before you have a blow-out. Gambling on tires is one of the riskiest, most expensive chances a motorist can take, especially when thousands are killed or injured every year in accidents caused by blow-outs and skids. It's a fact... today's speedy driving does generate terrific heat inside the tire. You can't see it—but unless this heat is resisted, rubber and fabric begin to separate. A baby blister forms. Bigger and bigger it grows. Sooner or later, and without warning—BANG! It's a blow-out! And you'll never forgive yourself if anything happens.

The Goodrich Gold and Black tube is made of tougher black rubber and has an extra layer of special Goodyear rubber to protect against rim cuts. Tests show that even when run in a flat tire for a distance the Gold and Black construction was not torn or cut, while tubes of ordinary construction were torn to shreds. Save time, trouble and money. Put Goodrich Gold and Black tubes in all your tires.

GOODRICH GOLD AND BLACK TUBES
Wear Longer—Cost No More

New Goodrich invention may save your life.
Someone had to build a safer tire that would stand up under modern driving conditions. So Goodrich engineers experimented and experimented, tested and tested. Finally they developed the greatest tire improvement in years—the Life Saver Golden Ply. This amazing, specially constructed ply resists heat. It prevents separation of the tread and the fabric from the tire. It resists heat blisters that don't form. And when you prevent the blister you prevent the high-speed blow-out.

Protection against "tail-spin" skids.
Silvertowns also give you the protection of the famous "road drying" tread with its three big center ribs that act like the windshield wiper on your car. At the first sign of a skid they sweep away the water. This gives the big double outer rows of hunky Silvertown cleats a drier surface to grip, and you're protected against dangerous "tail-spin" skids.

No extra cost.
Here's more good news! These Goodrich lifesaving features are really free. You pay no price premium for the extra safety that is built into these big rugged tires because Goodrich Golden Ply Silvertowns cost not a penny more than other standard tires. Don't let a blow-out add your name to the accident list. Get Goodrich—the safest tires money can buy. In the six sizes of Goodrich Tires there's a price to meet every purse. See your Goodrich dealer today.

The New Safety SILVERTOWN

The only tire in the world with the Life Saver Golden Ply. The utmost in protection against high-speed blow-outs—with a windshield wiper action non-skid tread—gives many extra months of "trouble-free" mileage.

Library Association Draws Up Programme Marking Anniversary

Monday, September 7, Set Aside for Celebration Of Twenty-Five Years' History—Sessions To Be Held at Provincial Library

CELEBRATING the twenty-fifth anniversary of its inauguration, the British Columbia Library Association will hold an all-day convention on Monday, September 7, in Victoria. There will be three sessions, the morning and afternoon sessions to take place in the Provincial Library, Parliament Buildings, where the inaugural meeting took place on September 6, 1911.

Miss Alma Russell, the president, who was also one of the charter members of the association, will preside at the morning meeting, which will be devoted principally to routine business and reports. At this same session, Herbert Killam, another of the charter members, will give a paper entitled "Looking Backward," which will cover the accomplishments of the association during its twenty-five years' history.

LUNCHEON HOSTS
The trustees of the Victoria Public Library will be hosts at luncheon, which will be served at the Empress Hotel, when the guest-speaker will be Hon. Dr. G. M. Weir, Minister of Education and Provincial Secretary. The subject of the afternoon session will be "Adult Education." An invitation has been extended to Robert England, recently appointed to the chair of adult education at the University of British Columbia, to address this session; Dr. Kaye Lamb, provincial archivist and librarian, will give a paper on "Adult Education in British Columbia," and general discussion on the subject will follow. Miss Julia Stockett, of the Vancouver Public Library, is also being invited to speak to the same session on "Institutional Library Work."

The evening programme will begin with dinner at the Empress Hotel at 7:30, when the speaker will be Dr. G. G. Sedgwick of the University of British Columbia.

CHARTER MEMBERS
Of the charter members of the association, those in British Columbia are the president, Miss Russell (formerly of the Provincial Library staff), Herbert Killam, and Mrs. Edgar, now of Vancouver. The latter, who recently resigned from the association, is now in the United States.

MINERAL FIGURES
In 1934, the report of the Geological Survey of Canada shows that the value of mineral products exported from British Columbia was $1,100,000. This was a decrease from $1,200,000 in 1933.

The new principal of St. Louis College, Rev. Brother E. B. Walsh, M.A., arrived in the city Tuesday morning from Vancouver. He is one of the youngest to be appointed, but has had considerable experience in Ireland, the United States and Canada. He has taught successfully in the Brothers' schools in Dublin, Monaghan, Derry, Seattle, Halifax and Vancouver.

For the past eleven years he has been in Vancouver College, where, in addition to the teaching of the senior classes, he has held successfully the posts of athletic director, gymnastic instructor and vice-principal.

For the past two months he has been visiting friends and sight-seeing in New York and New Jersey, accompanied by his father from Clonmel, Ireland.

Brother Walsh succeeds in the principality Rev. Brother L. S. Ward, M.S.C., who has been at St. Louis College for three years, and will leave on Saturday for New York City, where he will teach.

RE-ELECTED TO SERVE ON BOARD

Three Members Are Returned by Tomato Growers—Mainland Representative Chosen

George W. Riddle, Quan Yuen Yen and Murdoch Dingwall were re-elected yesterday to the British Columbia Tomato and Cucumber Board, according to A. E. Horner, returning officer.

Both Mr. Riddle and Quan Yuen Yen were chosen for their second term of office, representing the Island, while Mr. Dingwall will embark on his third successive year as the Mainland representative, this time by acclamation.

Out of 106 ballots issued, eighty-three were returned. Mr. Riddle was given a majority of thirty votes over William J. Dunn, and Quan Yuen Yen secured a majority of twenty-seven votes over Lum Young Chew. Five ballots were spoiled.

Four in Field For Vancouver Constituency

VANCOUVER, Aug. 26 (C.P.)—Four candidates were placed in nomination today for the Vancouver-Burrard by-election on September 2. Returning Officer R. M. McGowan declared the following nominated: Dr. Frank Porter Patterson, Conservative; John Howard Fowler, Liberal; Dr. James Lyle Telford, C.C.F.; and Robert Christopher Walker, Socialist.

Relief Office Makes Appeal For Clothing

The approaching reopening of schools has again called attention to the pressing need in many families for clothes suitable for school wear.

The city relief office, 1322 Broad Street, during the past few days has been besieged with requests for clothing and shoes, for, although boys and girls have been able to pass the holidays in slacks and bathing suits, the odd shirt or sweater, and a pair of running shoes without stockings, this is hardly suitable dress for the classroom.

An appeal is, therefore, being made to mothers of more fortunate homes who are outfitting their sons and daughters in preparation for school to remember the children of families of less fortunate circumstances, and either pass on any articles of outgrown clothing or buy one or two additional new garments to send along to the city relief office for distribution in the homes where there is no money for the purchase of such things.

If more convenient, a telephone call to G 8104 will insure the collection of any parcels of clothing or shoes.

COLLECTIVE SECURITY IS THEIR AIM

Adoption of World System Urged by Pacific Relations Delegates

VULNERABILITY IN PACIFIC STRESSED

YOSEMITE, Cal., Aug. 26 (A.P.)—Observers of international affairs, citing possibilities of war in the Far East, urged before the Institute of Pacific Relations today the adoption of some collective security system for the world.

Proponents of the collective system were J. W. Duffie, president of The Winnipeg Free Press; H. J. Van Mock, of the Netherlands, and F. W. Eggleston, of Melbourne, Australia.

EXTREMELY VULNERABLE
Duffie, speaking on the collective security system, discussed the "extreme" vulnerability of Western powers in the Pacific, particularly of Great Britain.

He declared no real adjustment of any problem can come through force and "collective security means no nation can be the judge of what is defensive war."

James G. McDonald, New York Times editorial writer, asserted last night peace would be impossible unless the Western nations recognized the "special position" of Japan in the Far East, as well as China's determination to retain her integrity. He said also Japan must recognize the stake of Western nations in the Orient.

JAPAN DOMINANT
Most delegates agreed that the naval power of Great Britain and the United States had decreased in the Orient, and that of Japan now was dominant. In the event of economic reconstruction of China, speakers agreed, Great Britain might become an important factor in any balance of power.

The trend of the closed round-table discussion was revealed at a press conference, but names of speakers were not announced.

The Chinese representatives told the institute that Communism of the Russian variety had been driven to remote corners of the Chinese Republic.

REPLY TO CHARGES
To Chinese charges of "aggression," Japanese representatives asserted the Chinese attitude toward

Japan often had been hostile and "violent," and that the expansion was justified by Japan's need for natural resources and China's need for development.

The institute, an unofficial body, seeks to promote peace through mutual discussion and understanding of international problems in the Pacific.

RAIN COMES WHEN HOPE INDIANS DO OLD-TIME DANCES

SHIMPOVI, Ariz., Aug. 26 (A.P.)—Underground gods of the Hopi people, answering prayers of the tribesmen, sent rain to drench the Indians' withering crops tonight at the conclusion of the last of a series of three spectacular snake dances.

The devout Indians rejoiced at the answer to their prayers, and reiterated that not in a thousand years have the gods ignored the pleas for rain and good harvests.

The evening programme will begin with dinner at the Empress Hotel at 7:30, when the speaker will be Dr. G. G. Sedgwick, of the University of British Columbia.

CHARTER MEMBERS
Of the charter members of the association, those in British Columbia are the president, Miss Russell (formerly of the Provincial Library staff); Herbert Killam, and Mrs. Edgett (now of Vancouver); Dr. Helen Stewart, recently engaged under the Carnegie Foundation in organizing the library system in the Fraser River Valley. John Calhoun, of the Calgary Public Library, and Mrs. White are other charter members.

The programme is being prepared in souvenir form for distribution to the members.

Miss Hazel King has issued an invitation to the association that she will be glad to welcome any of the members at her Shawigan Lake cottage on Sunday, September 7, which is the actual anniversary of the founding of the society.

LARGE GAIN IN EXPORTS

British Columbia Economic Council Findings Review Trade Since 1920

Findings of the British Columbia Economic Council made public by Premier T. D. Pattullo yesterday show an increase of $12,184,485 in export trade from the province between 1924 and 1935, which represents a jump of 12½ per cent. For the same period there was an increase of $6,667,627 in imports. The report of the council reviews trade since 1920 and is in two volumes.

Duties collected on imports totaled $6,224,435 in 1934 and $7,070,033 in 1935. The value of new automobiles sold in 1934 was $5,088,429. It jumped to $7,262,569 in 1935.

For 1934-1935 the total value of exported vegetable food products

INCREASE SHOWN
Wood, paper and other manufactured exports for 1934-1935 were valued at $28,991,975, compared with $26,103,015 in 1933-1934. Metal exports totaled $23,088,358 in 1934-1935. They were $17,723,497 in 1933-1934.

The total value of agricultural imports in 1934 was $967,827, the leading commodities being vegetables, which were valued at $791,058. This figure did not include fruits. The total of agricultural imports has decreased since 1932 from $1,165,166.

FISHERIES FIGURES
Dealing with fisheries, the report shows 1,023,493 tons of salmon and 2,394 tons of fresh and frozen fish shipped in 1934. Salmon was valued at $8,271,850, and fish at $582,182. Loss exported from the province last year were valued at $2,110,558. There were 87,417 tons of coal shipped in 1934. Export of precious and base metals in 1934 was valued at $15,367,500.

Nearly 64 per cent of the provincial trade was handled through Vancouver. The value of the export trade through this port in 1935 was $76,516,431. In 1934 it was $72,460,805. The import trade for consumption in 1935 was $36,830,653, and in 1934 it was $35,958,255.

During 1934 British Columbia had a favorable trade balance, for railroads, which were valued at $9,399,908. In agricultural products there was an adverse balance of $49,786; in mining products the favorable balance was $485,853; in forest products the favorable balance was $647,023; and in manufacture and miscellaneous products the favorable balance was $1,220,869.

Obituary
FOOTE—Many friends attended the funeral of Mrs. Mary Winnifred Foote, which took place yesterday afternoon. Rev. G. A. Reynolds conducted the service, during which the hymns sung were "Peace, Perfect Peace" and "Rock of Ages." Two solos, "There Is No Night There" and "Just for Today," were sung by Mrs. R. Mcintosh. Interment was made in the family plot at Rose Bay Cemetery. The following were pallbearers: A. Galbraith, K. Waites, R. Hogarth, G. Johnston, S. Youden and W. Dinmore.

JOHNSON—There passed away, at St. Joseph's Hospital on Sunday, James Johnson, aged seventy-five years, a native of England and a resident of Victoria for many years. He leaves no relatives here. LORD BEAVERBROOK'S IMPERIALISM

It is natural that Canadians should follow with some interest the career and activities of Lord Beaverbrook, the Canadian-born peer and newspaper magnate. In response to an invitation from The London Spectator, he has contributed to the columns of that journal an answer to the question "What Should We Fight For?"

The definite one, and Lord Beaverbrook's answer is definite. He would resort to war only in "defence against foreign attack of Great Britain, the Dominions and colonial possessions of the British Empire, the ocean paths which unite one unit of the Empire with another, the routes through the air which complete our Imperial communications in the flying age."

In his opinion, even if Great Britain wished to act as policeman of the world, which she does not, other nations would not allow her to undertake the job, because they are convinced that instead of being actuated by the lofty motives that she professes she would pursue a policy determined by her own self-interest. This conviction, he thinks, is shared not only by European nations, but also by the United States.

How, in Lord Beaverbrook's view, is Great Britain to maintain and defend her Imperial interests? Is it to be by alliances, or by the League of Nations, or by the old system of the Balance of Power? Not by alliances, he answers. An alliance with France would involve an alliance and an alignment with Russia against the enemies of that nation, and this means the enmity of Germany and Japan. On the other hand, an alliance with Germany would antagonize France and unite her with Italy, who has already been estranged on account of the Ethiopian affair. That would be the end of the safety of the Mediterranean Sea route.

As for the League of Nations, Lord Beaverbrook says that it was never more than a name for an alliance, concealed, hypocritical, between France and Great Britain for the coercion of Germany, and it collapsed as soon as it was used for another purpose. The League is in ruins, and no attempt should be made to rebuild it. "It has always been a danger to us."

The theory of the Balance of Power is that no Power should be allowed to grow so strong on the continent as to become a menace, and therefore Great Britain should always join the weaker of the two camps in Europe, and so bring its strength up to that of the rival camp. Now the whole principle upon which that theory was built has, in his opinion, been destroyed by the developments of modern war, which no longer exalts the victor and depresses the vanquished, but weakens and demoralizes all alike. Europe, moreover, is not now divided into two camps, one definitely stronger than the other. There is no settled system of alliances in Europe today. Things are in a state of flux, and consequently there is uncertainty everywhere. The situation is not clear enough to enable Great Britain to take a definite line in the sense of preserving the Balance of Power. The advocates of that principle are, therefore, compelled to remain inactive, and pursue, in the meantime, a policy of isolation.

Lord Beaverbrook concludes that the only policy is that which leaves Great Britain free to build up her own strength by looking firmly to her own interests, her own resources, and her own strategic needs, the only policy which leaves her free for peaceful enterprises and for the immense constructive tasks which await us within the Empire.

MOSCOW'S FIRING SQUAD

Executions are common in Moscow. Thousands upon thousands have been put to death to "consolidate" the Soviet regime, for the Bolsheviks believe in strong measures and are averse to any freedom of speech that is not consonant with their political ideals. The latest to fall before a firing squad include Messrs. Zinovief and Kamenef, accused of and confessing to having plotted against M. Stalin. The Soviet regime is absolute dictatorship tempered by assassination, and the fate of the latest conspirators was apparent from the time they were arrested. Despotism breeds plotters, and that is the reason that the firing squad of Moscow has become an established fact in the politics of the country.

The latest trial of plotters differed from some others of a similar character before, as it was held in the full glare of publicity. That was doubtless because the men confessed to a desire to change the Government in Russia. Not only did they confess, but they boasted of their course of action. The advertisement to the world is that some of the most prominent men in the Bolshevik movement, and one who had been president of the Third Internationale, found themselves wholly disassociated with M. Stalin and his conduct of the Government. The latest plotters sought to establish a purer form of Communism. They retained recent reforms in the Soviet State, and have won thereby obliteration from the scheme of things.

NAVY'S RESCUE WORK

The British Navy, as so often in the past, is engaged upon a task of mercy. Despite the danger of being subjected to accidental attack in Spain's internecine strife, vessels go to and fro from many ports of the country, rescuing British citizens and doing everything possible to alleviate their lot. Some indication of the nature of their work is given in a letter written by Lord Ruthven to The London Daily Telegraph. He quotes from a letter from his daughter, who was resident, with her husband, in Barcelona, and who was forced to take refuge on board H.M.S. London, being subsequently transferred to H.M.S. Douglas. She wrote: "You never knew such kindness and hospitality as we received. I had the captain's cabin. I don't think anyone belonging to the ship had anywhere to sleep, eat or sit, and we had everything. I do think publicity should be given to the amazing care, kindness and unselfishness of the Navy in the way they treated us. From the admiral down to the sailors who carried our bags on board, and the stewards who cooked coffee and made sandwiches all night, everybody slaved for us, and we must have made an infinity of work and trouble and discomfort for them. I have never in my life received more kind hospitality, with thought and organization behind it. They all gave up their beds. They all asked us if we had enough money, and lent us money on grubby bits of paper for I.O.U.'s—we were lucky, as I had my cheque-book—and in one case I know the commanding officer sent off a lot of cables for people out of his own pocket. I would very much like them to get a little public appreciation from at least one unspeakably grateful recipient of everything they gave, which was not only the physical safety and care, but the amazing thought and kindness behind it all. I can't put it into words, but I do not think I shall ever forget it. It was so surprising, somehow. I had expected great fidelity in getting us off, but thought there might be a certain amount of red tape, but they were all like very friends and very welcome friends from the moment we set foot on board. And how typical it was that the British ships were tied up alongside with the mob on the quay. The Italian cruiser had to lie outside, quite far away, for fear of incidents."

DIETS, IDEAL AND OTHERWISE

Members of the British Medical Association, at their annual meeting, laid great stress on the ideal diet which, they said, should contain such common and wholesome articles as bread, butter, cheese, eggs, leaf and root vegetables, fruit, meat and water, and it was mentioned that alcohol has a distinctly adverse effect. Having so delivered themselves, they sat down to dinner with the following menu:

Cantaloup Frampe
Elixir de Tortue au Xeres
Nid de Poi Gras a la Gelee de Port
Coeur de Laitue Pluie d'Or
Vollaille en Cocotte Perigourdine
Pommes Nouvelles a la menthe
Petits Poles Frais au Beurre d'Isigny
Pêche glaciee Princesse
Corbeille de Mignardises
Dessert
Cafe

To season the foregoing there was the choice of five rare old wines, all of which indicate that it is a good doctor who follows his own instructions.

This year's crop in Russia, and in Siberia as well, will be below the average of recent years. These countries have suffered from irregular weather, and chiefly drought, followed by thunderstorms and hail, which have left a high proportion of the ears empty. It is only in the North Caucasus that the yield will be average, because the period of drought there was less than elsewhere. There was little rain in South Russia and the Ukraine. Because of the shortage the Government has given orders to the grain collectors to secure its own compulsory quota immediately. Whatever happens to the peasants, the people of the cities are not to be allowed to starve.

A broadcaster of Vancouver's parade yesterday, in describing the float representing Greece, said he had forgotten his ancient history, but if he mentioned that the float represented the Parthenon people would get an idea of what it was all about. Some of them may have got the idea and others may have known better; many, however, will think that there ought to be a school for broadcasting.

He who imagines he can do without the world deceives himself much; but he who fancies the world cannot do without him is still more mistaken.

—Rochevaud.

Too austere a philosophy makes few wise men; too rigorous politics, few good subjects; too hard a religion, few religious persons whose devotion is of long continuance.—St. Evremond.

Let us teach ourselves that honorable step not to outdo discretion.—Shakespeare.

Custom may lead a man into many errors; but it justifies none.—Fielding.

Another Cycling Peden

Victoria Dominions will soon be reorganizing for the coming season and another fling at the Canadian basketball championship. When they take the court for their first exhibition of the season one of their shining lights will be missing in the person of Doug Peden, one of the highest scoring guards Dominion casing has ever seen in action. Doug ripped through the toughest of opposition to score baskets when the Dominions needed them most, leaving his position wide open, but he was back to his berth with the speed of a cyclone and his opponents often wondered where he kept his stamina to keep up the lightning pace he did. Peden has the basketball floor to go six-day bike riding and will soon team up with his famed brother "Toots" to earn his living on the oval track in the big time sport. Everybody in Victoria and other parts of Canada will be watching Doug's exploits on the indoor track, and everybody wishes him the best of luck and a long and successful career. He gave his best to the Ribbons and Dominions and played a big part in bringing basketball honors to the city. He will have to be replaced on the back division of the Dominions this year, and it is going to be no easy job for players of Doug's calibre are mighty hard to find.—J.D.

Hot or Cold?

We would like the marine experts of Vancouver Island to explain the reason for the differences in temperatures of the sea water around Victoria and the bodies of water beyond Qualicum. The Up-Island water is much warmer than the water on any of the local beaches. It might be because the local waters are comparatively open, whereas the northern waters are somewhat sheltered. . . but we think not sufficient to warrant the difference.—J.K.F.

Sure, Me Understand

An interesting story concerns a Chinaman who went into a local department store to buy a pair of stockings recently. "What size do you want?" inquired the saleslady. "No savvy," was the Oriental's reply. This continued for a few minutes until the clerk, who had been told of the size meant. "Oh, how big the yellow man finally perceived. "Um, lemme see—oh, me wanna half-past eight."—W.I.F.

Keep Your Temper!

It pays to keep your temper. A young man engaged to a very pretty girl, a friend was paying her too much attention at a dance, so he wrathfully invited him outside for a bout of fist-fights. After the fracas, the young man calmly handed him his spunkier. A few days later he decided to visit her out in the country by boat. On the way there he picked up a cranky old man and a rock and arrived at a landing, looking badly. He missed the girl by a few minutes, for she had passed him in another boat a moment before. "At a drug counter we were amazed to see soap covered with printed views of Victoria. Would it be waterproof soap?"—G.B.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

From The Daily British Colonist of August 27, 1886.
Yesterday morning a little boy named William Douglas, aged 4, and his mother, Mrs. Douglas, were at the corner of Pandora and Douglas Streets. One of the wheels passed over the child's body, but he escaped with his feet and arms unhurt. A rapid car was passing at the time, but the driver was able to see him, no bones were broken. The driver was in no way liable for the accident.
A same of interest will be shown at Branch Hill tomorrow afternoon between the Victoria Lacrosse Club and a team from Vancouver.
Tenders for the erection of a wooden lighthouse on Mudge Bay Island will be received by the Department of Marine at Ottawa until October 1.
A fine specimen of lake trout caught on Wednesday last in Princess Lake by John Wilson weighed four and a half pounds. This was understood to be the largest fish ever taken from there. The fish being strong and lively, had to be played for a considerable time before it could be landed.

LOOKED OVER FARM SCHOOL

BY THE EDITORIAL STAFF

Sir Edward Beatty, G.B.E., And Party Went to Duncan Yesterday

Sir Edward Beatty, G.B.E., and party of Canadian Pacific Railway directors visited the Fairbridge Farm school near Duncan yesterday afternoon.

The party motored Up-Island, guided by P. B. Fowler, vice-chairman; Col. J. S. Dennis, member of the British Columbia committee, and L. A. Grogan, secretary-treasurer. They left the Empress Hotel shortly after 2 o'clock.

INSPECTS BUILDINGS

After inspecting all buildings on the 100-acre estate, purchased last year and on which are being trained in agriculture and domestic science forty-one boys and girls from congested districts of Newcastle, Birmingham and Belfast, Sir Edward looked over the buildings and the management of the Canadian Pacific had been interested in the movement from its beginning.

He counselled them to work hard, keep healthy and grow up to be good Canadians, and said he would again visit them next year.

Returning from the visit to the school, in which the Canadian Pacific president evinced the greatest interest, members of the party were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Spencer at "Spencerwood."

LEAVING TODAY

This afternoon the party will complete its Vancouver Island visit, taking leave for the Mainland on the 1:45 o'clock boat. The president and directors will spend Friday and Saturday in Vancouver, where Sir Edward will be extended the fare to the city.

The party, leaving Vancouver on Sunday, will continue east to Calgary over the main line, stopping at the field, from which an inspection of Emerald Lake Chalet will be made. Motoring from Field, stops will be made at Lake Louise and at Banff.

URGES ISLAND TO SAVE ITS TIMBER

Bob Davis, of New York, Urges Forest Areas Are Chief Assets

A broad hint that Vancouver Island preserve its stands of timber was given by Bob Davis, of The New York Sun, in an interview at the Empress Hotel yesterday following his return from a two week tour up the island as far as the Forbidden Plateau.

"Something should be done to preserve your forests. They are the chief beauties of your island. Each time I come back here I find more and more timber has been cut down by logging operations," he said.

During his tour, Mr. Davis wrote some sixteen stories of a laudatory character. It was the first time he had been to the Forbidden Plateau and liked it immensely, he said. Mr. Davis is a regular visitor to Vancouver Island. He suggested water works be sent into the hills along the Island Highway to pipe water down to the roadside. He believes it would be an attraction for visitors.

SHOW BOAT SERVICES

Sir,—At the request of the committee in charge of the Sunday evening services on the Show Boat, I am trying to arrange for a massed choir for the evening of September 6.

May I take the medium of this column to extend an invitation to the members of choirs and those that took part in the massed choir at the Armories last year to again assist in this community service?

Well-known choruses will be taken, and as soon as arrangements can be made, a rehearsal will be called and announced in the press. The co-operation of all singers is asked, in order to make this hour inspirational and uplifting.

Executive of C.C.F. Answers Charges of Former Party Leader

Rev. Robert Connell, M.P.P., Accused of Flat Refusal to Meet Members—Important Correspondence Made Public by Chairman

REPLYING to Rev. Robert Connell, M.P.P., the following statement has been issued from the British Columbia executive of the C.C.F. through Don Smith, chairman, of publicity:

We regret that Mr. Connell should use such phrases as "guilty of one of the most insidious forms of lying" in reply to our statements. The evidence for each and every statement we have made can be presented on any platform he cares to choose. Ninety per cent of this trouble has been caused by Mr. Connell's flat refusal to meet us at any time.

At the Victoria meeting, when the press informed him that he had told them he would not be present, I stated to the audience that I regretted that fact, and we still feel that he would then have been in a better position to know what had been said and what had not, instead of relying largely, as it seems, on imagination. Those who were present at the Victoria meeting know that from beginning to end I refrained from introducing personalities. This is not a matter of personalities, but of principles: but when Mr. Connell makes such statements in the press there is, except at the risk of being judged "guilty of insidious lying," no alternative but to reply.

Such phrases as "Don Smith and his masters" reveal the spirit in which they are written and at that we can leave them.

WORDS ON RECORD

Mr. Connell denies the truth of our statement that "he promises minor reforms without making provisions for obtaining the wealth with which to finance them." We have his own words on record in a letter to us to counter this particular charge of lying. As Mr. Connell is not prepared to let matters rest, we publish the following extract from correspondence.

C.C.F. Planning Commission, C.C.F. Headquarters, Seymour and Pender, Vancouver, B.C. March 6, 1936.

"Dear Mr. Connell: This commission has a finance committee which is now busy consulting the best brains in the movement before evolving any financial policy for consideration by the proper body.

"You, I understand, have a plan in mind for financing the administration of a C.C.F. government in British Columbia. I presume you would be willing to assist the finance committee in its deliberations by favoring it with your suggestions. Will you be good enough to forward me a copy of your plan?"

(Signed) "MATHEW GLENDAY, Chairman Planning Commission."

The reply came on March 10, from Mr. Connell's secretary.

"Mr. Connell has instructed me to state that you can get full statement of his proposals on the proposed financial policy of a C.C.F. administration in British Columbia by consulting Mr. W. A. Pritchard. I understand Mr. Pritchard prepared the statement on which Mr. Connell's radio talk was partially based."

Mr. Pritchard was asked to furnish a copy of the plan to which Mr. Connell referred, but no reply was received. In response to a letter informing Mr. Connell of this, the Planning Commission received the following reply, which is the basis of our statement that Mr. Connell promised reforms without stating clearly from what source the money was to come to finance them.

MAKES REPLY

May 6, from Mr. Connell's secretary to the Planning Commission: "Mr. Connell has instructed me to say that he has no detailed plan for financing the administration of a C.C.F. government in British Columbia. He believes that such a plan perish. Men come and men go but the cause of Socialism goes on.

When any man becomes convinced that his personality is greater than the movement, the movement is faced with the alternative of losing that man or losing itself. The C.C.F. of British Columbia made its decisions at the last convention, will stand by them and on the strength of those decisions will ask the public for support to the end that the rule of the vested interests and the domination of high finance be challenged in this province. To that immediate goal this movement is dedicated. To that goal we now go forward.

DON SMITH, Chairman of Publicity, C.C.F. Executive (B.C. Section).

SHANGHAI, Aug. 26 (AP).—Chinese reports of anti-Japanese riots in Chengtu caused fear tonight of a new and potentially serious incident in the Orient.

Disorders broke out as an aftermath to the killing of two Japanese, and hastily efforts were made to placate Japanese officials here. Chengtu public safety officials were dismissed, the Japanese Consulate was advised Chinese advisers said Liu-Hsiang, chairman of the Sichuan Provincial Government, expressed regret to the Japanese Consulate at Chungking.

The military, other Chinese reports said, took over control at Chengtu as a result of continued demonstrations against display of Japanese merchandise in stores. One merchant, accused of dealing in Japanese goods, was dragged to public safety headquarters by a mob which demanded he be shot as a traitor.

Six policemen were killed seeking to restrain the Chengtu mob, a Foreign Office spokesman said today in advices received in Nanking.

TORONTO, Aug. 26 (N.W.).—N. W. Moore, editor of The St. Catharines Sunday Star, today was found guilty by Mr. Justice J. Keiller MacKay of contempt of court for publishing an article "tending to prejudice the fair trial" of William and Annie Manchuk awaiting trial on a murder charge.

Moore was given a suspended sentence of one year and ordered to enter into a recognizance to the amount of $1,000 and to publish a complete withdrawal of the offending statements and an apology to those whom they may have harmed as well as to the Ontario Attorney General, who applied for the writ of attachment.

"It is improper that if the rights of citizens are to be guarded with the justice which our law invokes, attempts, designedly or otherwise, to prejudice or stampede or to coerce the minds of jurors, must be stamped out," asserted Mr. Justice MacKay.

"I feel and I say it with some reluctance, that the press, usually fair, has to a certain extent during late years invaded a field which should be inviolate and probably would have been restricted had the publications been made in England."

The specific statement in the article stated that "murder had been done" Frank J. Flynn, appearing as a juror, said the story of the quarrel that led to the murder charges was common knowledge in St. Catharines. He argued the statement could not prejudice the minds of jurors as the judge who tried the case would instruct them as to what constituted murder and manslaughter.

The Manchuk man and wife, are accused of murder, as a result of the death of John Seabright from injuries he received in a quarrel over erection of a line fence between his and the Manchuk's properties.

C. R. Mazon, representing the Attorney General, said the department felt the case should be brought to the attention of the newspapers, so they might refrain from publishing anything that might prejudice the trial of any case.

NO WARBLE FLIES NEAR SALMON ARM

Department of Agriculture Freezes District of Insects That Plague Cattle

Through efforts of the livestock branch of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, in co-operation with H. E. Waby, district agriculturist at Salmon Arm, the district is now completely free of warble flies. By use of a derris root preparation, it is hoped to eventually free the entire province of the flies that plague cattle.

An enormous demand is reported by the livestock branch for the bulletin on mineral deficiency in stock. The publication is in process of revision to embrace results of recent investigations, states Dr. Wallace R. Gunn, livestock commissioner.

According to Dr. Gunn, mineral deficiency in Vancouver is mixture containing 2,000 pounds of sterilized bone flour, twenty-five pounds of iron oxide, one pound of copper sulphate and one pound of potassium iodide. If iodized salt is given stock, the potassium iodide may be left out. The mixture is added to grain in the proportion of 2 or 3 per cent and should also be made available to stock in troughs.

Dr. Gunn reports remarkable results from use of the mineral mixture on the Island.

Champion's Theories on Golf

By LAWSON LITTLE

During the days of the hickory shaft and specialized hand-made wooden shafted clubs, the good club-makers made clubs to suit the person for which they intended the clubs. The championship players usually played with stiff shafts, while the higher handicappers played with clubs with more limber shafts. The reason for this was that the championship players had a hard time hitting the ball a good deal harder than the average club member.

The study of the golf swing through the medium of slow motion pictures has brought out the fact that the shaft of the driver should bend backward about nine inches as the club comes into the hitting area. The pull down toward the ball and the weight of the clubhead on the slender shaft naturally brings about a certain amount of bend. The problem in making clubs with a dominant amount of bend for all types of players has been solved since the advent of the whippy and semi-whippy shafts.

CLUB BENDS IN RATIO
It stands to reason that the harder the club is swung, the more it will bend. Suppose Jimmy Thomson, the longest driver in the world, selected a club with which he drove that bent about the regular nine inches for some easy swinging, elderly club member. The result would be that the clubhead would lag way behind the hands, possibly as much as twenty inches. The ball would be long if the timing were correct, but the chances for good timing would be greatly lessened with such a bend in the shaft. On the other hand, if the elderly gentleman drove with Jimmy's stiff-shafted driver he could only bring about a three or four-inch bend. The result would be a ball shorter than if he had played with a club having the right amount of "kick" in the shaft for him.

HANDICAPS FLEXIBLE SHAFT
The question of limber shafts vs. stiff shafts has come up a number of times lately during some of my exhibition matches. Practically all of the golfers today care more about a long drive than a long putt—the drive is more sensational, although it is only a very small department of the game. If a player is using a club that hasn't the right amount of "feel" or whip in the shaft, he will have to fight his game to get good results. When the question is put to me directly—what do I think of limber shafts, or do I use limber shafts?—I try to explain that limber shafts do not fit my game. I am a hard hitter, and the clubhead would lag too far behind my hands. Also, players who have to play in all sorts of weather such as high winds would find the limber shafts would breed inconsistency, because the shaft would not be firm enough to keep the clubface square to the ball—a gust of wind plus the average player's power can bend a limber shaft when it is being swung as much as the tournament players swing.

Frequently the average club player admires the clubs used by his professional, so he orders a set just like them. He should be careful to make sure that the clubs conform to the specifications that suit him and not the better player.

As I have said before, but probably, have not stressed its importance enough, I use the single hint for today: Be sure to have a moderately slow backswing with a slight pause at the top before starting the downswing. This little pause will iron out many wrinkles in the swing and put one in a poised position ready to deliver a powerful blow to the ball.

WHITEHEAD IS BOWLING STAR IN CUP MATCH

Captures Seven Wickets for Six Runs as Five C's Defeat the Bays

Fielding a strong eleven, Five C's gained an easy victory over Hudson's Bay squad at Beacon Hill Park yesterday afternoon in the opening match of the Berger Cup series. The Churchmen won out by 75 runs.

Battling first, the C's lost Shrimpton in the first over, being cleaned bowled by Ted Oakman. Comley, Nixon and Jack Payne all helped the Churchmen's score, and half the side were out for 83 runs. Whitehead hit consistently for his 36, including six 4's in succession. Baker finished off the innings in great style, taking four wickets in his last two overs, and the final Five C's total was 109. The Bays' crack batting side collapsed badly before some sensational bowling by George Whitehead, veteran wicket-keeper. Only Frank Tyrrell reached double figures, and the whole side were out in forty-five minutes for the small total of 34 runs. Whitehead took seven wickets for 6 runs, including the "hat trick." He had four victims in his over.

Double Main Event to Be Held Friday

Matchmaker Louis Callan will present a double main event on the weekly wrestling show to be staged tomorrow night by the Victoria Athletic Club at the Royal Athletic Park. He will have Bill Steen and George Lowe in one half of the twin bill at 135 pounds and Harold Whitehead and Vic Stevens in the other at 150 pounds. The card will include four bouts, the remaining two having not been decided upon yet. The curtain-raiser will be a five-minute bout. The complete programme will be released today by Matchmaker Callan.

Lawn Bowling

The Burnside Lawn Bowling Club will hold its annual "baton" tournament Saturday evening. In this event, eight Burnside rinks will play against a similar number who have been invited from various clubs affiliated with the Greater Victoria District Lawn Bowling Association.

The final in the Malkin Cup triples will also be played Saturday in the afternoon, when S. Barr's Canadian Pacific trio will do battle with R. Harrison's Beacon Hill squad for the coveted silverware.

This evening the regular weekly "lights" mixed rinks, open to men and women bowlers of all clubs, will also be played at Burnside.

The death of George Bryant, one of the veteran bowlers of the club, is much regretted by his many friends of the greens where he was well liked. Secretary Stan Hawkins stated yesterday.

Frisch Is Signed By the Cardinals

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 26.—Sam Breadon, president of St. Louis Cardinals, announced tonight he had signed Frank Frisch to remain as manager of the baseball team for the 1937 season. Frisch terms were not revealed.

Archers Will Face Golfers On Saturday

Experts with bow and arrow and golf clubs will meet in a unique match at the Ardmore Golf Club Saturday afternoon at 2:45. It was announced yesterday by club officials that it is probably the first time in British Columbia that such a match has been carried out and therefore a large gallery is expected to watch the archers match their skill with the shotmakers.

Handling the bow and arrow will be Miss Betty Shade and her father, H. F. Shade, of the Victoria Archery Club, while their opponents will be W. T. Sison, club champion, and Miss Diana Fraser, also Ardmore titleholder. Targets will be placed in the holes for the archers, while the golfers will play the round in by default manner. The affair has already created considerable interest, and onlookers will, without any doubt, witness some real skillful play by both sides.

All new pupils will be admitted to school on Tuesday, from 9 to 10 a.m. at Willows and from 10 to 11 a.m. at Monterey School.

RELIEF LISTS SHOW DECLINE
City Families Aided in July Are Third Lowest on Record Here

During July, 805 families received aid from the city, the third lowest figure since regular relief rolls were established here in 1932. August, 1935, was the lowest month, when 796 families were aided, while in June, 1932, a total of 803 families received assistance.

Figures for July show a steady reduction from February, which has been the peak month in each year. The figures for last month are well below the exceptionally high total of 1,130 aided in March, 1933. The June total was 849.

In the single division, a reduction of six was seen in the male section from July, 1935, but the number of women increased from 142 in July, 1935, to 153 last month.

COSTS NOT DOWN
Despite the decrease in totals, the costs did not decline in comparison. The relief department, city relief officers explained, was required to shoulder increased costs as well as replace kitchen equipment, including stoves, which had worn out in recent years.

An increase in the number of single men requiring aid was expected by officials in the near future. They explained that when relief camps closed down those not absorbed into work gangs were given credit slips for wages. A number of men have been living on these allowances during the past few weeks, but when they are spent, the total of single men requiring aid from the city was expected to rise materially.

FIND BACTERIA ON METEORITES
Now Believe Life Exists Outside Earth, Says Astronomer Visiting Here

That life exists outside the earth is possible, says Dr. Frederick C. Leonard, chairman of the department of astronomy in the University of California, Los Angeles. In an interview at the Empress Hotel here yesterday, Dr. Leonard explained the meteorite had brought possible proof of the long-held theory.

Recently Dr. Charles B. Lipman, dean of the graduate division of the University of California, announced the discovery of dormant bacteria on meteorites. Dr. Leonard said. The life from the cosmic spaces was carried to the earth on stone meteorites. Meteorites, the astronomer explained, were of three types, stone iron and those half stone and half iron.

LARGEST METEORITE
The largest meteorite known to man fell in southwest Africa and had an estimated weight of fifty tons, but it has never been entirely exhumed. The largest specimen is in the American Museum of Natural History and weighs thirty-six tons. It was discovered by Admiral Peary in Greenland. Although millions of meteors enter the earth's atmosphere every day, very few of them become meteorites. Dr. Leonard explained. No specimens so far as known, had been discovered in British Columbia, or Washington.

During his visit to Victoria, Dr. Leonard spent some time at the Dominion Observatory on Little Spanish Mountain and expressed his gratitude for the courteous treatment he had received from the director and members of his staff. They are doing magnificent work up there and Victoria should be truly proud of the institution," said Dr. Leonard.

DISPLAY MOOSE RIVER EXHIBITS

Story of Gold Mine (Cave-In) Which Trapped Three Is Now Told in Museum

HALIFAX, Aug. 26.—Moose River mine rescue exhibits are now housed in the Provincial Museum, where tourists stream in and out to hear the story which held the interest of the continent in April.

Curator Harry Piers secured the collection from the Nova Scotia Department of Public Works and Mines. Each exhibit is carefully worded, explaining the object and the use to which it was put at the caved-in gold mine.

APPOINTED SECRETARY TO ATTORNEY-GENERAL

QUEBEC, Aug. 26.—Alexandre Larue, private secretary to Hon. Adolphe Gauthier, has been appointed secretary of the Attorney-General's department. He was named to succeed Georges Duvallet, who recently resigned.

The Revs. minister had paid a long call on an invalid parishioner. At last he rose. "Well, John," he remarked, "I must be getting on my way. The day's round, you know."

A gleam of interest flickered in the sick man's eye. "I'm glad you're a sufferer," he whispered. "That's something in your favor, anyway."

Social Activities and Notes of Personal Interest

Social and Personal A Much-Feted Bride-to-Be

TOOK LARGE PART IN CREATION OF EMPIRE

the difficulty. For the British Empire, potent as it is, is not potent enough to stand alone in the world. "I think this is generally realized, and that is why Britain and the Dominions have from the start labored to secure, through the League of Nations, a system of world-wide collective security."

A GREAT IDEAL

"That is a great ideal which we must never relinquish; but it is clear, I think, that the original League of Nations was devised on too ambitious lines. We tried to create something full-blown and complete, instead of something which could develop slowly. It was intended to be a world system and a co-ordinate system, but the absence of the United States from it made it from the start an imperfect creature with a far too cumbersome procedure."

"I think it is generally agreed that some revision is necessary, and that for the present the League will have to be organized more modestly, less on the lines of a world state than of a clearing-house for consultation and discussion. That is not what we once hoped for, but, nevertheless, such an organization would be of the highest value in clarifying men's minds. For it is mental confusion far oftener than malevolent intention which leads to war."

UNAVOIDABLE NEED

"It would not be proper for me to enlarge on this matter, or on what regional agreements for security may be necessary as an intermediate machinery before we can attain a true internationalism. For no country today can afford to be without a foreign policy."

"We in Canada are far enough from the Old World, with its troubles, but we have the Pacific at our door, and beyond the Pacific are many difficult problems awaiting settlement. The world has shrunk today and there is no part of the globe which can say that its geographical position renders it immune from danger."

REASON FOR FAILURE

"I suggest to you these questions for consideration at leisure. And I would offer you one final reflection. The League of Nations has not succeeded as we hoped, because it has not an adequate spiritual force behind it. The revolution from the brutalities of war in 1918 was not strong enough to lead that clear-eyed and single-hearted effort which alone could ensure the peace of the world. There were still too many fevers in the nations, and these fevers have remained as acute irritants, flaming the eyes and distorting the mind."

Women of Moose Hold Silver Tea

Victoria Chapter No. 25, Women of the Moose, held a silver tea on Monday evening in the K. of P. Hall, the tables being attractively arranged with flowers. Those entertaining parties of friends were the senior regent, Mrs. P. H. Hicken, Miss E. Garrett, Mesdames E. Cowden, S. Wetherall, K. Herring, A. Hatcher and L. Macdonald.

During the evening a large birthday cake was lighted and presented to the senior regent, Mrs. Hicken, and the past regent, Mrs. E. Jones, who were celebrating their birthdays. Mrs. Jones was presented by the senior regent on behalf of the chapter with a standard lamp in appreciation of her services. Enid Middleton sang "Smile Through" and "Danny Boy."

Mr. W. Kettle, dictator of Lodge 1360 gave details of the picnic to be held on Sunday, August 30, at Mount Douglas Park, and spoke of the forthcoming visit of Mr. C. P. Boyle, a distinguished official in the order. A special meeting will be held on August 31.

The senior regent of Nanaimo Chapter No. 197, Mrs. Clarkson, was welcomed, preceding the social part of the evening a short meeting was held. Mrs. Hicken presiding. Committee reports were received. Details regarding the picnic may be obtained from Mrs. A. Hatcher, Empire 2419.

at a more formal Confederation under the Crown.
MUST SPEAK AS WHOLE
"There will arise economic questions and political questions, in which the Empire, speaking as a whole, would have infinitely more weight in the world than if Great Britain and each Dominion spoke with a separate voice. Booner or later we must devise some apparatus of common action. Indeed, we are already busy at the task."

"But here I would venture upon a word of caution. Some of my Imperialistic friends, especially in Great Britain, seem to me to be a little too eager to hurry the pace. They would like to gather all the Dominion statesmen around a table and sit down and work out a plan for an executive alliance in every department of common interest. I do not believe that would work. That is not the way the Empire developed in the past, and it is not the way it will develop in the future."

BOUND TO FAIL

"Any attempt to create a formal organization for common action would, to my mind, be bound to fail. We must feel our way carefully as the different issues arise. Just as Imperial Federation in Joseph Chamberlain's day would have stunted Imperial development, and might even have wrecked it altogether, so any attempt in our own day to go too fast and to lay down rules in advance before the proper atmosphere is created, would not increase, but would gravely impair, Imperial solidarity."

RADIO DEAD SPOT MAY BE TO BLAME

Salvage King and Salvage Queen, of the Pacific Salvage Company's fleet, which responded to her wireless calls for aid following the accident. They stayed with her in Royal Roads Tuesday night with their pumps working continuously. She entered drydock later in the day, and last night the big basin was pumped out to permit examination of the injuries received. A further examination will be made today after which tenders for repairs will be sought.

EXTENSIVE DAMAGE

The damage to the Atlantic City is confined solely to one side, but extends for some fifty feet fore and aft. The ship's keel, punctured five planks and damaging two more, as well as injuring sixteen floors and doing some internal damage, the extent of which will be determined today.

The ship struck about ten feet aft of her injection valves. She was fortunate, as she would have been unmanageable following the accident if these had been torn away.

RADIO "BLANKETS"

It is not infrequent along the coastline, especially between here and Prince Rupert, to experience dead spots or blankets through which radio signals are unable to penetrate, stated operators at the wireless station here. Sometimes the interference will remain for hours at a time and there have been many theories advanced by radio engineers, but no definite conclusion has been reached concerning the cause.

Some engineers maintain the radio waves are absorbed, either through static or extreme changes in the atmosphere. Others say the interference is magnetic or that the atmosphere under certain conditions, becomes charged with electrical influences that offset wireless signals. In certain parts of Canada and the United States engineers have discovered permanent dead spots in which radio or wireless signals do not register on receiving instruments at any time.

ARE MYSTIFIED

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 26 (U.P.) — United States army, navy and commercial short-wave station operators today sought an explanation for a "blank" period when sending sets were practically always yesterday.

Lieut. Commander R. E. Melling, of the naval communications office,

"What is to be the future of this great alliance? The first duty of an alliance is to have some kind of common policy in matters of common concern. We cannot stop short said messages began to fade about 10:30 a.m., and the condition continued for nearly an hour. A similar condition prevailed a few months ago when a solar eclipse was visible in Russia.

Ships at sea as well as land stations throughout the world observed the phenomenon, Melling said.

Lick Observatory astronomers at Mount Hamilton, near here, were unable to say if sunspots caused the dimmed reception.

Longshore Leaders Say Violence Premeditated if Strike is Called

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 26 (U.P.) — Ship operators threatened to halt working agreement negotiations today with the International Longshoremen's Association, while two longshoremen's officials and their attorney said they had been threatened with death if a waterfront strike is called.

A walkout of stevedores at Port Townsend, Wash., brought the threat to break negotiations by employees, now conferring with I.L.A. officials in efforts to agree on working agreements to replace those which expire September 30.

H. P. Melnikow, counsel for the I.L.A. district executive committee, said someone had telephoned a death threat to his office. District President Harry Bridges and Executive Committee Chairman Henry Schmidt said they had received similar calls.

KHABAROVSK, Siberia, Aug. 26 (U.P.) — The Russian ambassador to Tokyo and the consular general at Harbin were ordered today to lodge protests with Japanese and Manchukuan authorities for alleged violations of the Soviet frontier.

The Russian Government asserted five Japanese airplanes flying toward Manchukuo crossed the border at various times between August 14 and August 23. Two of the planes, it charged, penetrated Soviet territory for a distance of about ten miles.

RECORD CROWD AT SHOW BOAT

Estimated Attendance at Last Night's Entertainment Over 8,000

The attraction of an unusual and popular programme, plus knowledge of a clear sky, a half moon hanging in the southern heavens, and hardly a breath of wind to ruffle the brilliant green, red and orange Neon light reflections in the harbor, drew a record crowd of eight or nine thousand to the vicinity of the Show Boat last evening, when the Bessford School of Music pupils were the entertainers.

A powerful searchlight playing from the bows of one of the C.P.R. passenger ships moored in the harbor lighted up the unusual scene, a flashlight photograph of which was taken during the course of the evening. One of the other spectacular incidents of the occasion was when, in response to the special request of the official announcer, T. H. Eslick, the men in the audience simultaneously struck a light.

The performers were greeted with appreciative applause particularly the very young children who composed the violin and guitar, the guitar and the violin duets; and the orchestral and baby symphony numbers. A number of encores were called for.

The programme included the following:
Concert band numbers, conducted by J. R. Peebles, "March Dallas" (Hall) and "Down South" (Middleton); violin ensemble, "Estrellita" (Ponce) and "Snowbird Waltz" (Barton); guitar duet, "O Susannah" and "Spanish Fandango" played by Sylvia Stanwyck and Helen Broderick; violin duet, "Starlight" (Nichols) and "Dreaming" (Lorraine Snyder); and Doreen Hamilton (6); guitar ensemble, "Beautiful Lady in Blue" and "Bohemian March"; violin and guitar duet by Sven Fredericks and Austin Smith (aged 7); Bessford's radio orchestra, "Make Believe" and "Dorothy" (Brown), with Miss Anabelle MacKenzie as vocalist.

BABY SYMPHONY

The Bessford Baby Symphony, conducted by six-year-old Sydney Burgess, played "Hunting Song" and "Cuckoo Song"; and there followed violin duets by George Lyons and Jummie Lyons, "Blossom Waltz" and "Yankee Doodle"; Kushner's guitar solos by Wilfred Turner, vocal solos by Miss Anabelle MacKenzie, "Rendezvous With a Dream" and "Mexican Love Song" (Barton); violin and guitar, Maurice L. Kushner, L.R.A.M., accompanied by Lenore Kushner, "Introduction and Tarentelle" (Bartolozzi); concert band, conducted by Hubert Peebles, "and 6"; "Water-ville" (Hall) and "Wild Mustang Blues"; and the finale by the grand ensemble. This last, by Barton, was especially dedicated to the occasion, the title being "Vancouver Isle."

RELIEF CENSUS TO START ON MONDAY

A relief census to determine, it is understood, the types of employment for which various relief cases are especially equipped, with a possible view of moving them to districts in which they might find work will start in the city relief offices on Monday.

The census will be carried out by stenographers from the Provincial Commission, and is expected to be completed by September 30.

Two local farmers, chatting over the gate, saw coming towards them a hefty young laborer.
"You're a bonny youth," said one.
"There must be a deal of work in him," "Aye," admitted the other, "there must be for I never saw any come out!"

LAUREL, HARDY IN OAK BAY COMEDY

Good Supporting Cast Appearing With Comedians in "Bonnie Scotland"

With the buffoonery of Laurel and Hardy in their full-length fun feature, "Bonnie Scotland," showing for the balance of the week at the Oak Bay Theatre, is a delightful romance which is threaded through the story. Featured in these love sequences are Jane Lane and William Janney, the former in the roll of a Scotch lassie who inherits a fortune, and Janney as a poor law clerk.

So perfectly is the romance and the hilarious antics of Laurel and Hardy meshed that there is no clash in the unfolding of the story, which in the main concerns itself with the adventures of the two boys as members of a Highland regiment stationed in India.

In the characters of McLaurel and McHardy, these two veterans produce a laugh till which have never been surpassed in any of their previous pictures.

CAPITOL Behind walls back of theatre, men, life teaches an ecstatic young girl the rapture of first love in "Girls' Dormitory." Twentieth Century-Fox production at the Capitol Theatre currently, Simone Simon, the brilliant new star discovery, makes an impressive debut on the screen. Herbert Marshall and Ruth Chatterton also starred, with the supporting cast featuring Edmund G. Collie, J. Edward Bromberg, Dixie Dunbar, John Qualen and Shirley Deane.

A series of fountains is being built at various points in Paris, and our photograph shows two towers, representing Paris and the Seine, which have been erected at the Porte de St. Cloud. The foundations of the towers are luminous.

PLAZA PRESENTS STORY OF CIRCUS

Wallace Beery and Jackie Cooper Co-starred in "O'Shaughnessy's Boy" With Good Cast

There have been many interesting rumors at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, but none stranger than that which occurred under the big top erected for "O'Shaughnessy's Boy," co-starring Wallace Beery and Jackie Cooper, which opens today at the Plaza Theatre.

First to greet Beery on the set was Joe Metcalf, veteran elephant trainer, for many years with the Al G. Barnes circus, who learned the business with Beery when they traveled, as youngsters, with the Forepaugh-Sells circus.

Their expressions of mutual pleasure over meeting were interrupted by the shrill trumpeting of an elephant.

"Why," exclaimed Beery, "it's Anna May!"
Anna May is a lady elephant, who carries her fifty years with all the dignity befitting a veteran of the screen with many years of experience before the camera. But she lost her poise completely when Beery appeared—for Anna May was just as anxious as Metcalf to say "hello" to an old friend.

It developed that Anna May had appeared with Beery fourteen years ago in a silent comedy. During the filming, a set caught fire. Beery, averted his eyes, while she reassured the frightened elephant, and led her to safety. Anna May has never forgotten.

AMUSEMENTS

On the Screen

Atlas— "Champagne Charlie," starring Paul Cavanagh.
Capitol— Herbert Marshall in "Girls' Dormitory."
Columbia— "Nevada," starring Buster Crabbe.
Dominion— Pat O'Brien in "Public Enemy's Wife."
Oak Bay— "Bonnie Scotland," starring Laurel and Hardy.
Plaza— Wallace Beery in "O'Shaughnessy's Boy."

SERIO-COMEDY IS ON ATLAS SCREEN

"Champagne Charlie" With Paul Cavanagh Currently Featured Splendid Story

The behind-the-headlines drama of a playboy fortune-hunter and a dollar princess is the subject of the Fox picture, "Champagne Charlie," which comes today to the Atlas Theatre.

Played with a zest and effectiveness that match the title, the picture follows the impetuous story of a gambler at life and love, as he skirts tragedy, plays at romance.

The title role of "Champagne Charlie" is occupied by handsome Paul Cavanagh, while his leading lady is Helen Wood, lovely Southwestern belle, who plays her first major role in this production.

Thomas Beck, Minna Gombell and Herbert Mundin are the chief actors in the strong supporting cast of "Champagne Charlie," which was directed by James Tullin and produced under the supervision of Edward T. Lowe.

Columbia Offers Zane Grey Film

The cattle country of Nevada is a long way from the jungles of far-off tropic lands, but Larry "Buster" Crabbe and Kathleen Burke make the jump easily in the new Paramount romance of the West, "Nevada," coming today to the Columbia Theatre. Audiences will recall these actors respectively in "King of the Jungle" and "The Island of Lost Souls."

In "Nevada," which is an adaptation of Zane Grey's latest story, Crabbe is a two-faced cowboy and Kathleen Burke is the headstrong daughter of the richest man in the state. They meet under unusual circumstances and Crabbe, secretly trying to break up a ring of cattle rustlers in order to save Kathleen's father from ruin, is wrongfully accused of being the leader of the cattle thieves.

As is usual in Zane Grey stories, the plot is soundly constructed and has its full share of surprises and dramatic climaxes. There are also a number of spectacular scenes of cattle round-ups and expert horsemanship.

BUSINESS WOMEN MEET IN FRANCE

International Federation Seeks to Promote Economic and Professional Interests

PARIS (C)—Canadian delegates to the recent Congress of the International Federation of Business and Professional Women took an important part in the deliberations of the convention. Miss Mary Mount, of Hamilton, Ont., was the Canadian delegate, and several other Dominion women attended.

Holding of the congress in France was particularly fitting when the republic had just appointed three women to important Government posts. Welcoming the delegates to France, Pierre Vincent, Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, said the appointments were not merely a gesture in the old spirit of chivalry but evidence of an effort to meet new conditions and solve present grave problems in a new way.

FRANCHISE DISCUSSED
The delegates from twenty-four countries also heard Miss Cecile Brunschwig, Under-Secretary for National Education, one of the three new appointees, voice the hope that the Government's recognition of women's contribution would be followed by the granting of the franchise to French women.

Miss Lena Madson Phillips, of Washington, international president, charged the organization in each country with the responsibility of discovering during the coming year the discriminations against women and preparing to overcome them. She said the central purpose of the organization is to protect and to promote the economic and professional interest of business and professional women.

OUTLINE PROGRAMME

While our group in each country sought out discriminations against women, another should plan a campaign of action and a third should study new avenues of gainful employment for women.

Miss Phillips said that every nation and every individual must be on alert and willing to look through the telescope of all nations rather than solely through the microscope of national or individual gain, and business women should lead in this Equality of opportunity earned with it an equality of responsibility.

"VIRGO"
If August 27 is your birthday the best hours for you on this date are from 9:10 to 11:10 a.m., from 2:10 to 4:10 p.m., and from 8:10 to 10:10 p.m. The danger periods are from 7:10 to 9:10 a.m., from 6:10 to 8:10 p.m. and from 10:10 p.m. until midnight.

You cannot afford to allow discouragement to find lodgings in your thoughts. Know that if you are conscientious in your efforts everything will work out for the best. Spunk, and plenty of it, is the most essential attribute for you to possess to get through the day successfully. In commercial circle press should be a secondary consideration as quality is an important factor that must not be ignored and is in danger of being overlooked by the bargain hunter this day. Those seeking diversion through social activities need have no fear of not having an enjoyable time, for every condition seems to be most propitious for every kind of wholesome amusement. Married and engaged couples, as well as those experiencing the varied emotions of the tender passion, will, if they keep in an agreeable humor, probably find this day filled with agreeable surprises.

DIGGERS MAY END MYSTERY

Tales of Ghosts and Treasures Surround Ship Buried in Sand

GREEN POINT, N.B., Aug. 26 (P).—The mystery of an ancient hulk, buried for 300 years or more in the sands of this Gloucester County shore, may give way soon to scoop and shovel. Interest in digging out the ship has been evoked by local residents and the Historical Branch of the Miramichi Natural History Association.

Possibility of treasure existing in the wooden hull is one incentive. Probing into the sand with a crowbar produced the sound of metal. An old cannon, shining with preservation by the sands, already has been recovered. One night of exposure caused it to rust badly.

Nothing is known about the wreck's history. Its age, estimated at anywhere between 300 and 400 years, is a matter of rough calculation based mainly on tradition. Only a portion of the hulk is visible at low tide, with the rest buried in sand.

RIBS ARE OF OAK

The hull is believed to be some 100 feet long. Ribs seen during low tides are of oak and pegged with no signs of spikes or nails. At high tide the wreck is under twenty feet of water.

Indications point to the mystery ship having been burned. The beach, once an inlet, was filled by sand in course of time, according to tradition. In recent years the beach has worn away steadily, revealing a little more of the wreck.

A theory that the vessel was one of a French fleet, which failed to recapture Quebec in 1780 was discounted because the hulk is unlike a warship of that time. The recovered cannon, a type once used in forts, gave the impression of having been wrapped in a casing and is believed to have been merely a part of the ship's cargo.

GHOSTLY TALES

Many shifty tales have been told regarding the vessel's complement. One French resident of the village summed it up this way: "They've seen hatches on the beach when sea waves were pounding the old ribs."

A favorite story is told by an old villager, who said he ventured down to the desolate beach one night and saw a phosphorescent man standing amid the gaping ribs with life arms lifted toward the sky as if in prayer. The most peculiar thing was that the figure had no head, apparently having been decapitated in some fight of the dim past.

Then there was the reported night when a dozen hideous apparitions—some with arms gone, others with legs missing, and a few minus their heads—gathered before a blazing fire on the beach, all silent and sinister.

DIES OF FROZEN FEET WHEN MERCURY CLIMBS

BIG PRAIRIE, Ohio, Aug. 26 (P).—With the mercury registering 100 degrees, Sherman Yarnell, sixty-seven, died of frozen feet. The injury was suffered last winter during 20-below-zero weather.

A distinguished visitor to a lunatic asylum went to the telephone and found difficulty in getting his connection. Exasperated, he shouted to the operator:

"Look here, girl, do you know who I am?"

"No," came back the calm reply, "but I know where you are!"

Little Stories for Bedtime

Sammy Jay Loses His Appetite

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Who plans a thing that's underhand, Or mean, or crafty, bad or small, Is in the end quite apt to find There is no gain for him at all.

Sammy Jay ought to have found that out long ago. But somehow he never has. Sammy is a lot smarter than a great many other people of the Great Forest, but that is one thing he never has learned, and I am afraid he never will. You see, he has done mean things so long that it has become a habit, and habits, particularly bad habits, are very hard to break. Now nothing could be meaner than to steal eggs from his neighbors, and there is no one in all the Green Forest who would make more of a fuss over having his own eggs stolen than Sammy himself. If he should catch anyone stealing his eggs he would tell everybody within hearing of his voice his opinion of the thief, and it wouldn't be pleasant to hear. Yet nowhere is there a worse egg thief than Sammy Jay himself.

So as soon as Sticky Toes, the tree toad, told him about the home of Cresty the Flycatcher, Sammy made up his mind that he would have the eggs he felt sure must be there. But he didn't want anyone to know that he had stolen them. That is the way with people who do mean things—they do them in secret. They want to be thought honest and respectable. So all the rest of that day Sammy kept very quiet and as much out of sight as possible while he watched the tree in which Cresty had made his home and studied how he could get those eggs without being found out. At last he thought of a plan, a very clever plan. At least Sammy thought it very clever.

Early the next morning he hid in a thick hemlock tree and began to scream: "Thief! Thief!" at the top of his lungs. It wasn't long before he saw Cresty the Flycatcher hurrying in that direction to see what the trouble was about, and after him came Mrs. Cresty. Sammy knew by their anxious looks that they were worrying about their precious eggs, and had come to see who the thief was and to help drive him away from that part of the Green Forest. He screamed louder than ever, and then when they had almost reached the tree in which he was hiding he slipped out on the back side and keeping the tree between him and them so that they could not see him, he flew away, without a sound.

Then while Mr. and Mrs. Cresty and a lot of their neighbors, who had hurried over there too, were talking it all over and wondering what it all meant Sammy silently hurried to the tree where Cresty's home was. As he drew near he chuckled wickedly, for he saw the doorway was plenty big enough for him to enter. He was still chuckling as he reached the doorway and made ready to slither in, just then a Merry Little

Departments of Mines and Labor Operate Nanaimo River and Emory Creek Camps

When British Columbia placer training camps close at the end of next month, it is anticipated 300 young men will have received training. Camps are operated on Nanaimo River and at Emory Creek, between Hope and Yale, by the Departments of Mines and Labor.

There are at present ninety-five men at Emory Creek and forty-eight on Nanaimo River. They are being taught the use of rockers, sluices, gold panning, gravel working, ground sluicing, cooking, woodcraft, whipsawing lumber, and other items tending to make them independent prospectors.

After six weeks of intensive training the men are given a grubstake and transportation to a gold-bearing area.

The headmistress of an elementary school was interviewing the parents of her school's winners in the hope of inducing them to allow the girls to take up the school-

And all the rest of that day Sammy kept very quiet while he watched the tree

Breeze happened along. Sammy's sharp eyes caught a glimpse of something long and slim hanging out of Cresty's doorway and it moved. To Sammy it seemed to wiggle, though really it was simply swinging back and forth as the Merry Little Breeze blew it.

With a frightened scream Sammy almost turned a back somersault in the air as with frantic beating of his wings he tried to get away as fast as possible. Cresty and Mrs. Cresty heard him, and came hurrying to see what was the matter. "Black-snake is over in that tree! You better watch out!" he shouted over his shoulder and hurried off.

Cresty looked at Mrs. Cresty and then both began to laugh. They knew it was the tail of Mr. Black-snake's old coat that had frightened Sammy, so for it was for just such a purpose that Mrs. Cresty had left it hanging out of their doorway.

And up in the tree top Sticky Toes the Tree Toad fairly hugged himself for joy. His little joke had worked just as he had planned it should.

"Funny," said Mrs. Cresty to Cresty that night, "that no one else ever has thought to use Mr. Black-snake's old clothes to scare people away from their homes!" But no one else has.

Court Must Give Decision On Ticklish Marine Point

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26 (AP)—The Supreme Court of the United States was asked yesterday for a ruling on whether the second mate of the vessel Coveta, contracted the itch from the ship's cook.

The Hammond Lumber Company, owners of the vessel, appealed a ruling by the Oregon Supreme Court awarding Ralph Compton, the mate, $1,000.

State courts held the ship's owners should have made a physical examination of the crew before the vessel sailed to ascertain if anyone had a contagious disease.

In its petition to the Supreme Court here, the lumber company asserted:

"There was no evidence that Compton had the itch;

"There was no evidence that the cook had the itch;

"Or that, if the cook had the itch, the ship owner knew of it before the ship left port so he could do anything about it."

The court will announce in October whether it will review the controversy.

Youthful Bandits Heavily Punished

HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 26 (AP)—Within eighteen hours of the time they held up and robbed a drug store, John Black, seventeen, and Andrew Dyke, eighteen, were sentenced to ten years in Kingston Penitentiary and to pay each $100. They pleaded guilty to charges of armed robbery in court here yesterday.

DEMAND MORE BLOOD PURGES

Soviet Newspapers Praise State for Executing Plotters

MOSCOW, Aug. 26 (AP)—Soviet newspapers tonight demanded new purges of counter-revolutionaries as they praised the State for putting to death sixteen conspirators condemned for plotting to overthrow the Soviet Regime at the behest of the exiled Leon Trotsky.

At Hoenefas, Trotsky said he felt his duty to "avenge" the deaths of the conspirators who had accused him of personally plotting a reign of terror under cover of which they said he hoped to return to power in Russia.

Meetings of workers continued to lavish praise on all concerned for executing the conspirators, and there were muttered predictions Trotsky would be brought back to Russia and punished.

BOLD MOVE
Obviously termed the latest executions of the conspirators one of the boldest Bolshevik moves since

Many Lives Lost In BATAVIAN EARTHQUAKE

SAIGON, French Indo-China, Aug. 26 (CP-Havas).—Many natives were killed or injured in a violent earthquake that struck the interior of Batavia, Kootadja and Sumatra late Sunday night. It was reported here today. All communication and public services were reportedly severed.

Lotofcah was selecting a motor-car. Several expensive models were shown to him, but none of these took his fancy.

"Now take this car," said the salesman. "The engine will develop sixty horsepower without a vibration."

The rich man's eyes opened inquiringly. "Is that so?" he said. "How much does it develop with one?" I want the best that money can buy."

Your Health and Your Weight

TREATMENT OF OVERWEIGHT BY DIET, THYROID EXTRACT AND DINITROPHENOL
By JAS. W. BARTON, M.D.

When insurance figures definitely show that in North America about two in every five of the adult population are overweight and that overweight is a handicap to good health, it is only natural that trying to prevent and reduce the overweight condition should be a matter of importance to a great many people.

Practically every overweight knows that the proper and scientific way to reduce weight is to eat less food and do more work. This simple method gives in return for the fat lost real healthy or vigorous muscle tissue, which not only gives strength of body, but actually gives work or exercise, thus giving further strength.

However, those of normal weight cannot grasp what cutting down on food and performing more work means to the overweight individual. He has been given this great desire for food and up to a certain point he has been given this dislike for work or exercise. Further, every time he performs a simple action like walking or running he is doing perhaps physician about the use of thyroid, pituitary or other gland extract, or perhaps the new drug, dinitrophenol.

Now the length of time that is taken to get to the point where there is no further weight loss on the reduced diet may take six, nine, twelve or even eighteen months. The length of time varies according to the rate which the physician considers safe for the individual, and also the rate varies with different individuals.

The average weight loss when reduction of food is the only method is from two to three pounds per month, and the average length of time taken to reach the point where there is no further loss of weight from dieting is usually about five or six months.

Drs. Leona M. Bayer and H. Gray, in The American Journal of Medical Science, report the methods used in 108 unselected overweight patients treated in an outpatient clinic. "One hundred were treated by diet alone at first. Then fifty-one were given thyroid treatment, and twenty-three dinitrophenol. Better weight losses would have been achieved if the patients had cut down more conscientiously on their food, but, of course, when the patients only report once a week or once a month, this is to be expected. The results accomplished show that diet alone will take off an average of fifteen pounds in less than three and one-half months. When dieting fails to get results, either thyroid extract or dinitrophenol appears to be effective in causing a further loss in weight."

When there was no loss shown for a whole month, the patient continued for one more month on the reduced diet. If at the end of this time (two whole months) there had been no loss of weight, then thyroid extract was given as long as the patient continued to lose weight. When the weight remained the same, then dinitrophenol was used until there was no further loss, at which time it was felt that the limit of the reduction in weight had been reached.

It was found that when twenty pounds had been lost by diet alone, another five or six pounds could be gained off by the use of thyroid extract or dinitrophenol.

While these figures show that thyroid and dinitrophenol can reduce weight past the point reached by diet alone, there is always danger when drugs are used.

Drs. Bayer and Gray emphasize the importance of medical supervision by patients taking either thyroid extract or dinitrophenol.

POPE CURTAILS HIS ACTIVITY

Advancing Age Compels Pontiff to Take Life More Easily

CASSEL GANDOLFO, Italy, Aug. 26 (U.P.)—A day with Pope Pius on his vacation is proof that his Holiness, in his eightieth year, intends to take life more easily from now on. Last year it was a "busman's holiday" with the Holy Father working here as hard as in the Vatican. This year he is more careful.

The pope rises at 6. The sun is long since up over the Alban Hills and a cool breeze blows in from the Tyrrhenian and over Lake Albano. Privileged visitors attend mass he celebrates in his private chapel dedicated to the Madonna of Grottochowa in memory of his stay in Poland as Nuncio, and decorated by the Polish artist, Rosen. Immediately after breakfast work begins. His secretaries, Mgrs. Confalonieri and Vennini, arrive with overnight letters and telegrams.

RECEIVES REPORTS

At 9 o'clock he passes from his own apartment to the private library of what is called the noble apartment, where he receives Cardinal Pacelli, secretary of state, or some other prelate of the department, for an exhaustive report on foreign affairs.

Then other cardinals, archbishops, bishops and other dignitaries pass into the library for private audiences. These are over at 11 o'clock. Meanwhile pilgrims arrive in motorbuses from Rome, seven miles away. Attendants conduct them to the public audience chambers.

Mondays, Wednesdays or Saturdays newlyweds, whom the Pope delights in receiving, flock to Rome by the thousands. The Pope gives each bride a rosary.

The Pope gives his public visitors one hour. The first part of his day, devoted to private and public audiences, finishes at noon. He then takes a little rest.

Afterwards he is helped into his automobile and driven around the gravel roads of the Villa Barberini. Total length of the villa's roads is ten and one-half miles, and he is driven slowly for nearly two hours.

VISITS HIS DAIRY

Often he has the automobile stop and visits his model dairy and poultry farm, where he watches with great interest while the cows are mechanically milked and the butter is made. He will talk affably with the peasants employed at the villa. He asks them about their families, their children particularly, and before leaving, always blesses them.

At 2 o'clock he returns to his apartment. He eats alone while his secretaries alternate in reading to him reports, newspaper clippings and correspondence. The remainder of the day he passes partly by himself, partly with his secretaries. He reads and writes much. Seated at his desk he works on his documents, reforms and instructions.

In the evening he loves to receive a friend or two, especially scholars. He dines at around 10 o'clock, then reads a while before going to bed.

All of which sounds like a busy day. It is. But it is much less than he had to do here last year.

EMPLOYEES ASK MANY CHANGES

Steel Workers Make Number of Demands on Big Corporation Subsidiary

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 26 (U.P.)—The Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation, United States Steel's biggest subsidiary, received today from its insurgent employees representatives a demand to recognize the John L. Lewis "one big union" industrial organization plan of collective bargaining.

Five mill workers from the corporation's plants at Chicago, Gary, Ind., recently elected by employee representation groups, declared they found the present collective bargaining plan "utterly futile inasmuch as they are company dominated."

The five claimed to represent one-half of Carnegie-Illinois' 80,000 wage-earners.

George Patterson, head of the committee, said in a statement the workers are demanding a 25 per cent wage increase effective immediately and a universal forty-hour week.

The statement also asked a national wage scale agreement and a wage scale committee "wholly independent and free from the influence and domination of the company; a vacation-with-pay plan that "does not work injustices upon large numbers of men, as the 1936 vacation plan does; weekly paychecks for all workers; and "more adequate" safety measures.

A man got a job polishing automobile bodies. During the first week he was taught to polish with the right hand only. The second week he was made to use the left hand only. Next week he had to use both hands simultaneously.

At the end of the third week the foreman said to him "Easy, isn't it?"

"Yes," said the new man with a tired grin, "and if you'll just fix a broom to my pants I'll sweep the floor at the same time."

CHAPTER XIII

Joan gave a frightened gasp. "How could they know?" she whispered anxiously. "You surely didn't say anything . . . let them read it!"

"I'll say I didn't. If my guess is right, it was a sick trick. Have you time to hear it?"

"You know I have. Tell me."

"Well, I went up to the beach postoffice this afternoon to call for that letter. I opened it in the lobby, glanced through it, then stuck the thing in my hip pocket. I had no coat on. On my way out the front door, I bumped into the Elledges."

"Do you think they followed you for any reason?"

"I don't know what to think . . . now. John did make some remark about my getting a letter. He asked if I had then sent general delivery."

"They've been watching the house mail then," Joan guessed. "Maybe they were suspicious of you. Does that fit?"

"It could. They invited me to walk back with them, but Sloan held out for some beer first. We had a couple of bottles apiece and sat at a table chinning while we drank."

"What did you talk about?"

"That was funny, too. Sloan put me through a regular third degree about New York, my work, a lot of things. I knew he was checking up, particularly when I saw it was making the fat boy sort of jittery. John was afraid Sloan was overplaying. It all seems clear now."

"I'm coming to that. When we left the beer place, John was behind me . . . touched me on the arm and asked to be excused. He said he'd catch up to us. So we walked along slowly . . . Sloan and I."

"Did he say anything to make you suspicious?"

"Um . . . m. No, he didn't. Deeds decided that he would not mention the swim story. It would take too long and he was not ready to bring Claire into it. That seemed relatively unimportant."

"John caught up with us and we walked home by way of the shore. He was hot and John had trouble keeping up. When we were almost home, I pulled out my handkerchief to wipe my face. Right away John called out from behind that I had dropped my letter. He gave it to me."

"But I don't see . . ."

"Neither did I. But I'm wise now. I think. When he touched me there in the beer place . . . he touched me for the letter. Took it into the rear room and read it. He probably intended to let me think I had lost it, until he grabbed the break I gave him. I let him clear himself by pulling out my handkerchief. He dropped the letter at the same time. Not dumb at all."

"But you can't be sure of that. Mac. After all . . ."

"Oh, yes I can. I've made the makings of a great death. John was spiraling like a race horse today. His fingers were wet and he smudged the address on the envelope."

"When he picked it up for you," Joan objected.

"Listen. After I got to the room. I opened the letter to read it again. And there was an ink smudge on the inside of the folded page. See? More than that, it was a finger-print. Not enough to identify anybody with, maybe, but it wasn't mine. And I'll swear it wasn't there when I put the letter back the first time. So what?"

"That sounds as though you might be right," Joan said slowly. "What are you going to do?"

"Just nothing, I suppose. Unless one of those boozes makes a move. I don't look for them to. I fancy they'll keep quiet, if I do."

"I don't know . . . sh!"

There was a sound of steps and a dim figure came around the corner of the porch. The soft glow from the single lamp in the hall revealed the newcomer as Gene Gerson.

"Good evening," he remarked affably. Then, as he seemed to be aware of the others' identity, "Hello . . . evenin' off."

"Yes," Joan told him quietly. "We were enjoying the breeze. It was hot here this afternoon."

"I guess so. I had a little business up the line today . . . almost roasted. Pretty decent driving back, though. I think I'm ready for a good sleep now."

"So am I," Joan decided. "And I should be getting at it." She moved toward the open door.

"Good night."

Deeds made a brief acknowledgment from his seat on the rail. It was like Gaslon to bob up . . . that way. But he was rather relieved when the latter lingered on the porch. He didn't like the idea of Gaslon's following Joan indoors, talking to her. And he wouldn't let after them to assure himself.

Gaslon had taken on a new importance in the scheme of things here. Deeds had attempted to banish the little twinge of jealousy that had marked his few encounters with this man. Joan had told him there was no one else . . . she thought there never would be. That should go for Gene Gaslon, then. But Gaslon was a friend of the Elledges. How well did he know them? Did he know that they were under false colors? And why they were?

The object of these reflections interrupted Deeds' train of thought. "Are you managing to have a good time here?"

"Me? Sure. Why not?"

"Well, it's pretty quiet. I'm sorry if I haven't seemed very sociable. But I've been rather busy sort of combining business with pleasure."

"You're fortunate."

"Maybe. A chap has to keep stirring about these days to make ends meet . . . unless he's lucky enough to have a good income without working. I'm not."

"In the selling game?" Deeds ventured at random.

"No." Gene tempered the sharp word with an easy laugh. "Perhaps I am, at that . . . trying to sell myself. Aren't we all?"

"That's what it amounts to, I guess."

"I notice that Claire has been making advances to you in her carefree way." Gene remarked unexpectedly. "She's quite a kid."

"Very attractive," Deeds acknowledged.

"When I get squared away, we'll have to get busy and figure out some entertainment . . . for the four of us. See you later. Good night."

Deeds watched the other disappear in some perplexity. He had been pleasant enough . . . something sort of disarming about the fellow. But his last suggestion was a queer one . . . he included Joan in the "four" course. Deeds wondered how Gene was pairing the quartette in his mind . . . wasn't sure the idea appealed to him. He was becoming decidedly selfish, as far as Joan was concerned.

The bathing hour at Layland Cottage, the next morning, was marked by an unusual occurrence. Almost the entire household was in the surf, forming a general group, when Dr. Sloan Elledge came striding over the sand.

He was wearing a swimming suit. Without a word for any of the others, he waded into the breakers and plunged from sight. When he appeared, it was to forge ahead with easy measured strokes. Dr. John wallowed in his wake like an anxious porpoise.

Their performance was watched with varying degrees of interest by the other members of the group. Deeds observed Joan and Claire sitting together on the sand and made his way to them. He sat down cross-legged behind them, moved by a slight uneasiness. It would not be particularly surprising if Miss Lindsay were to make some reference to Sloan's diastolic performance. She turned to Deeds with a cryptic smile.

"What do you think of the miracle in our midst?"

"The doctor? Why, I think it's a good thing . . . from all I've heard. He seems to be enjoying himself."

"I'll say. We're about to have a scientific diversion on the subject. Here comes Little John. He can't quite keep up with the naval race."

The stout doctor came waddling in their direction, wiping the brine from his face with the back of his hand.

"Have you been watching my brother?" he inquired pantingly as he dropped down on the sand. "It's a triumph . . . nothing less."

"Of mind over water," Claire suggested.

"Exactly. Miss Lindsay! I've been attempting to get Sloan into the ocean ever since we came down here. This morning, quite to my surprise, he consented. He used to be exceedingly fond of the water . . .

before his trouble. He's a fine swimmer. I can't keep pace with him."

"If you ask me," Claire observed carelessly, "your brother has been needing a bath for some time. Look at him now . . . showing that loathly kid how to improve his strokes. I wouldn't be at all surprised if he condescended to notice me after this."

"I will not be surprised if he displays a marked benefit," the brother said hastily. "I do not know how well you young people appreciate the underlying principles of psychoanalysis . . . remarkable results in their application. You would find it a fascinating subject, Miss Kendall."

He turned and regarded her blinking. "I imagine that you are quite a student."

"I'm not," Joan answered shortly. She kept her eyes fixed on the water.

"It's plain that you are modest . . . Ah! And here's our good friend, Gene. He comes as usual, tell it?"

"Not bad."

Deeds, watching the two men closely, fancied their meeting furnished a subtle change in the atmosphere. He couldn't describe it, but he was satisfied that the little doctor was ill at ease in Gaslon's presence. That impression was strengthened when Elledge scrambled to his feet, saying:

"I must caution Sloan not to overdo this first time. If you people will excuse me . . ."

He scuttled away in his usual breathless fashion.

To add to Deeds' surprise, Gene leaned over and seized Claire by the wrist.

"Come along, sweetheart. You haven't given me a chance to duck you yet. Your turn."

"Nothing doing . . . I've had enough. Going in."

"You said it."

He gave her a quick pull that brought her to his feet, still protesting.

"Coming quietly, gal? Or do you want to be dragged?"

When the scuffling pair was out of hearing distance, Joan turned suddenly to Deeds.

"Mac . . . I couldn't sleep last night for thinking about our talk. Has anything more developed?"

"Not yet."

"There was something else I wanted to ask. Did that letter mention the Elledges by name?"

"No, I don't believe so."

"Then . . . if it was read . . . isn't it just possible they wouldn't understand what it was about?"

"Not a chance. They took a lot of trouble to get hold of it, and Bill spoke of the Addystone. That would do the trick."

"I suppose so," she sighed. "But I'm worried . . . on your account."

"Nonsense!" he countered lightly. "They couldn't do anything to me. If that's what you mean. As long as they keep on the level, I won't bother them. And providing they don't . . . annoy you."

"I can't help it, Mac. It's all so . . . so intangible somehow. I'm selfishly glad you're here, but I'm wondering if you oughtn't to leave."

"I'm not running away, my dear . . . until I know from what. Maybe I should disappear . . . but not on account of that pair. For that matter, he hurried on, 'I'm safer here . . . provided they wanted to start anything.'"

"What do you mean?"

"They can keep an eye on me. They couldn't, if I went away."

"Perhaps. But you'll be very careful, won't you?"

"I don't know what about, but I will."

"I suppose it's all, but I feel that Dr. Sloan is going to be very different after today. It's as though he had taken off the level of some sort. He's . . . there! Both of them are coming out. Will you take me in for a little swim? I'd rather not meet them just now."

"Is that the only reason?" he teased, helping her to her feet.

"Please, Mac . . . that hurls."

NOT EQUIPPED TO FIGHT FIRE

Vancouver Chairman of Committee Has Five-Year Plan for Department

VANCOUVER, Aug. 26 (U.P.)—Alderman L. D. McDonald, chairman of Vancouver's fire and light committee, yesterday urged a five-year programme to re-equip the city fire department. The proposal was made at a special meeting of the committee following the fire which swept part of Vancouver's west end waterfront last week.

The alderman told the meeting that the Vancouver Fire Department needs more equipment, hose and men.

"It was an act of God that there was no wind on the night of the Arena fire," he warned, "otherwise we might have lost the whole of Vancouver."

It was finally decided at the meeting that full information regarding the state of the city's fire fighting equipment should be obtained and another meeting called at a later date when the matter will be more fully discussed.

Alderman McDonald's proposal would include the purchasing of two new fireboats, ten new pieces of apparatus and the construction of several new fire halls.

Hairdressers, a Chicago dispatch informs us, complain that "ordinary barbers in the Midwest are calling themselves hairdressers to the great detriment of the advanced profession."

Reminds us of the late Judge Joseph Quinn, of the Massachusetts Superior Court. In his court one day the district attorney, questioning a witness, asked: "You are a barber, aren't you?"

The witness replied pompously, "I am a tonsorial artist."

"Well, now," put in Judge Quinn, "isn't that splitting hairs?"

PRESIDENT HAS PEACEFUL PLAN

Roosevelt May Propose Conference of Ruling Heads of Powers

NEW YORK, Aug. 26 (U.P.)—The New York Times said today that President Roosevelt is considering in event of his re-election proposing a conference of the heads of important powers in an effort to assure world peace.

The conference, the newspaper said, would include Mr. Roosevelt, King Edward VIII of Great Britain, Joseph Stalin, Russia; Adolf Hitler, Germany; Benito Mussolini, Italy; President Lebrun, France; representatives of Japan and China, and a few others.

The President has mentioned the idea to a few intimate friends. The Times continued, but stressed the fact that he has not reached a definite decision.

As outlined so far, according to the article, the conference would discuss prospects and hopes of disarmament and peace and unite in a proclamation of personal purpose to prevent war in any part of the world.

While the orchestra was playing, the hostess sat down beside an elderly guest.

"Don't they play beautifully," she said.

"Pardon?" queried the old gentleman.

"I said what a lovely orchestra."

"Sorry, I can't hear a word. This band is making so much noise."

Mrs. Hocking and Don Campbell Win Hard Court Titles

Capture City Tennis Championships From Mrs. (Commander) Edwards and Marsh Gordon—Edwards Family Captures Doubles

Mrs. Ross Hocking and Don Campbell lifted the women's and men's city hard court tennis championships yesterday afternoon on the courts of the Civil Service Club. The former captured a three-set decision from Mrs. Commander Edwards, while Campbell scored an easy victory over Marsh Gordon. Mr. and Mrs. Edwards won the mixed doubles honors by winning from Mr. and Mrs. Hocking in straight sets after they had lost in the first round. The Hockings had defeated Miss Phillips and Brand earlier in the day in one of the semi-final matches, 6-0, 6-2. The Edwards pair then took the court and came through against the Hocking combination by scores of 6-4, 6-4.

MRS. HOCKING WINS

Continued from last Saturday when rain forced postponement of the match, the women's singles final started with Mrs. Hocking winning the opening set at 6-0. Mrs. Hocking was leading Mrs. Edwards, 5-0,

RALPH ALCOCK AGAIN CHOSEN SOCCER HEAD

Re-elected President of Wednesday League—Season Opens Sept. 16

Plans for the opening of the Wednesday Football League were made at the annual meeting, held last night, in The Colonist boardroom. Following the election of officers the delegates decided to make September 16 as the final day for the filing of entries, and then selected September 16 as the opening date, with a double-header set for the Royal Athletic Park. In the evening the teams will hold an "opening" dance at the Palais de Danse.

Ralph Alcock, who guided the league through a successful season last year, was re-elected president of the association. His election was unanimous and popular with team representatives present at the meeting. In taking over the important office again, Mr. Alcock thanked the delegates, and stated he would give his best as league president. Charlie Lewis was chosen vice-president and Percy Shrimpton was re-elected as secretary—treasurer. Another popular choice by those present.

LONGSHOREMEN ENTER

Hudson's Bay, James Bay Wanderers, Spencers and Victoria Longshoremen were represented at the meeting, and all signified their intentions of competing this season. Entries are also expected from the Navy and the Garrison, who did not enter last year, the first time in many seasons.

Entry of Longshoremen is new this year, and with plenty of good material to select from they should be able to line up a strong aggregation. If the Work Point boys decide to re-enter the league they will have one of the strongest eleven competing, as they have some first-class players at the barracks.

Sharkey Misses Right-Hand Punch

Boxing writers and public called the Sharkey-Louis fight the "If" battle, because of their uncertainty of the boxers fighting to form. Well, here's another "If" from the Yankee Stadium ten-rounder, and a very big one in Sharkey's eyes. The Boston Gob is seen in an excellent action shot from the first round, swinging a terrific right at Louis. If that blow had landed, it might have upset the Bomber's equilibrium and left him as helpless as he was against Schmeling. But it didn't, as you can see; Joe ducked beneath it and countered with a left to the body. Jack's chance was gone. The result is shown in the corner. A gallant but helplessly beaten Sharkey tries vainly to pull himself up on rubbery legs in the third round. He was counted out—another Louis victim.

ANDREWS, DALE AND CHUCK CUNNINGHAM RACE TO VICTORIES

Former Wins Three Events, While Dale Rumps Off With Half-Mile and Cunningham Takes Mile Race—Nanaimo Boys Do Well—World's Record Claimed in Hammer Throw

By LOCKIE JONES
Canadian Press Staff Writer
VANCOUVER, Aug. 26 (P)—Two young brothers from Nanaimo and a stocky Victoria youth started today at the fifth annual Caledonian Games track and field meet, but their individual triumphs were eclipsed by the performance of a black-haired Californian, who laid claim to a world record for the twenty-one-pound hammer throw.

Andrews was also second in the javelin throw behind Leo Maki, of Vancouver, whose best effort was 137 feet 1 inch.

After the victories of Nanaimo's Williams brothers, other Up-Island city competitors also fared well.

Edgar Thompson, cousin of Nanaimo's Olympic miler, Hugh, did the 400 yard dash in 57 seconds, out H. Carey, of Powell River, the tape, and Muriel Stobart, lone girl from Nanaimo, leaped four feet even in the junior high jump for another Nanaimo victory. She was also third in the sixty metres for junior girls.

With Vancouver Island athletes competing in the senior 100, 220 and 440-yard events, Vancouver sprinters predominated in these events.

Jack Fraser, promising Vancouver police flash, took the 220 yds. with Martin Naylor, of Powell River, second and Jack Harrison, of the Vancouver Police, third and then went on to take the 440 in 33.2, with Harrison second and M. Stewart, of Vancouver, third.

CLAIMS WORLD'S RECORD

Martin Naylor's only victory of the day came when he did the century in 10.1, closely followed by Fraser and Harrison. Besides claiming a new world record with his mark of 123 feet 5 1/2 inches for the twenty-one-pound hammer throw, Hal Williams of San Francisco, also won the thirty-five-pound weight throw and the sixteen-pound hammer heave.

SEATTLE BOYS REACH FINALS OF NET MEET

American Youngsters Hold Sway in Island Tennis Championships

DUNCAN, Aug. 26 (P)—All events in the Vancouver Island junior tennis championships were brought down to the finals today, which start at 1 o'clock Thursday, and will find two Seattle boys, B. Page and H. Loquvam fighting for the under-eighteen crown. In the girls under eighteen, Dot Marler, of Vancouver, will meet Kay Staples, present holder of the British Columbia junior title.

The under-sixteen boys' title match will also be an All-American event, N. Ballard meeting S. Smith. Both boys are from Seattle. Two Victoria boys, O. Hinks and H. Bennett, will meet Dot Marler, of Vancouver, and Virginia May, of Parkville and Pasadena.

Virginia May, who shows evidence of careful training, will play in the final, Thursday afternoon, and thirteen-year-old Monica Roberts, of Duncan, has reached the finals in four events.

Boys' singles, under 18 (semi-finals)—B. Page, Seattle, beat T. Staples, Duncan, 6-3, 6-1. H. Loquvam, Seattle, beat N. Ballard, Seattle, 6-2, 6-2.

Girls' singles, under 18 (semi-finals)—K. Staples, Duncan, beat Ann Carter, Vancouver, 6-0, 4-6, 6-2. Dot Marler, Vancouver, beat Donna Stanner, Victoria, 6-2, 6-0.

Boys' doubles, under 18—N. Ballard and B. Odman, Seattle, beat J. Oltham and J. Leask, South Cowichan, 6-2, 6-1. O. Hinks, Langford, and H. Bennett, Victoria, beat E. Ballard, Seattle, and T. Staples, Duncan, 6-1, 6-1. Semi-finals—B. Page and H. Loquvam, Seattle, beat N. Ballard and B. Odman, Seattle, 6-0, 6-1. O. Hinks and H. Bennett, beat E. Ballard and T. Staples, 9-7, 6-4.

Girls' doubles, under 18 (semi-finals)—K. Staples and S. Smith, Duncan, beat E. Swaney and H. Unsworth, Victoria, 6-2, 6-1. Virginia May, Parkville, and Dot Marler, Vancouver, beat Ann Carter, Vancouver, and S. Godding, Duncan, 6-2, 6-0.

Mixed doubles, under 18—T. and K. Staples, Duncan, beat J. Odman, Seattle, and D. Stanner, Victoria, 6-0, 6-1. H. Loquvam, Seattle, and Dot Marler, Vancouver, beat D. Odman and W. Pinhorn, Victoria, 6-1, 6-2. B. Page, Seattle, and Virginia May, Parkville, beat Bob Odman, Seattle, and Ann Carter, Vancouver, 6-1, 6-2.

Boys' singles, under 16 (semi-finals)—N. Ballard, Seattle, beat H. Gwynne, Bremerton, 6-4, 6-4. S. Smith, Seattle, beat Dick Odman, Seattle, 6-0, 4-6, 6-2.

Girls' singles, under 16 (semi-finals)—K. Staples, Duncan, beat Monica Roberts, Duncan, 6-2, 6-0. Virginia May, Parkville, beat M. Macbean, Duncan, 6-0, 6-3.

Mixed doubles, under 16 (semi-finals)—T. Staples and Virginia May, beat K. Staples and W. Morris, Bellingham, 6-1, 6-1. H. Bennett, Victoria, and Monica Roberts, Duncan, beat B. Odman and Marjorie Macbean, Duncan, 6-1, 6-2.

Maxie Baer Toys With Cecil Myatt

PORTLAND, Aug. 26 (P)—Former heavyweight champion Maxie Baer left the ring here last night with a six-round decision over Cecil Myatt, Los Angeles, and 5,000 Portland boxing fans left Multnomah Stadium with a sour taste in their mouths.

The Livemore Larraper jabbed and slapped at Myatt almost at will during the entire fight, but failed to impress. Myatt showed nothing but a stubborn 219, Myatt 216's.

Brother Buddy was equally unimpressive, though he knocked out Bill Devere, San Francisco, after seven seconds of the second round of their scheduled six-round set to a right to the button did the work. Devere upped the scales at 200, forty less than Buddy.

Soccer Activities

Linfield 5, Ards 0.
Cliftonville 0, Glenavon 1.
Bangor 0, Nerry Town 2.

Goldstreak Captures Feature at Brighthouse

Tops Field in Lieutenant-Governor's Event on Mainland Track—Noses Out Taylor's Torolce By a Length—Lady Gold Third

VANCOUVER, Aug. 26 (P)—Goldstreak II, from Lieutenant-Governor Eric Hamber's Greencroft Stables, pounded down the stretch to nose out the A. C. Taylor entry, Torolce, by a length, in the Lieutenant-Governor's Handicap, feature race on today's card at Brighthouse Park.

The Greencroft mare set the early pace, dropped back, then forged ahead in the stretch. Lady Gold was third.

Goldstreak II held a thirteen-pound weight advantage over the Taylor filly.

The winner paid $8.90, $2.35 and $2.20.

Winning prices for the day were high, with the other six first-comers paying off in double figures.

Princess Sally nosed out Love Us, in the third, to pay $24.80, highest. Coupled with Jubal, winner of the straight win prize of the day.

Third, the daily double paid $103.00.

Langford Track Will Be Fixed

Jack Taylor, managing director, announced yesterday that the Langford Speedway, Limited, has been organized as a company with a capital estimated at $15,000. The company will operate the new speedway at Langford for automobile racing, and when plans are completed several more events will be held there this year. Clarence Vey is acting as secretary-treasurer and Louis Michelin is another of the directors.

It is planned to hard surface the track in the near future, and officials are hoping to be able to stage one or two meets before the end of summer. Two meets have been staged so far this year and were a big success. With the elimination of the dust nuisance by laying a new surface the officials expect the races to be even more popular.

Schmeling Watches Bomber Triumph

Weathered Joe Louis Max hammered the Detroit Bomber into a twelve-round knockout, but here he is watching the aging Jack Sharkey go out in less than three rounds under the colored lady's attack.

ROY WEATHERLY LOSES GROUND

Rookie Cleveland Outfielder Drops Far Back of Big Six Leaders

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Roy Weatherly, Cleveland Indians' rookie, who has an idea he may win the American League batting championship, looked like anything but a title-holder possibility yesterday as he all but sank out of the American League trio in baseball's Big Six in hitting. He failed to hit safely in four trips to the plate and lost six percentage points, dropping to .368. Both of the leaders, Earl Averill of the Indians in the American League, and Duck Medwick of the Cardinals in the National League, lost ground as they got but one hit in four chances each. Medwick slipped to .370 and Averill to .384.

The standings (three leading hitters in each league) follow:

THE STANDINGS

Averill, Indians, .384. G. A. R. H. P. 100 123 49 142 174 339

Silent Glows and Hillcrest Meet in Second Fixture Tonight

WITH defeat meaning elimination, Frank Shandley's Silent Glows will be out this evening determined to square up the Vancouver Island softball championship series with Hillcrest Lumber Company, of Duncan, at the Royal Athletic Park at 5:45 o'clock. The Up-Islanders captured the first battle on their home grounds last Sunday by a 14-12 score in one of the heaviest hitting games of the season. Lloyd Jones will most likely get Manager Shandley's call to start on the mound against the Hillcrest boys, with Jack Caddell completing the battery, while Elmer Evans may start for the visitors. Chuck Turner will be on hand in case Jones bumps into trouble. One of the largest crowds of the present season is expected to watch the fixture.

AL ETTORE SIGNS

Close to 250 children who competed in the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club's gala at the George on Tuesday will be guests of the association at a swimming party this afternoon at the Crystal Garden at 2:30.

Silent Glows and Hillcrest Meet in Second Fixture Tonight

WITH defeat meaning elimination, Frank Shandley's Silent Glows will be out this evening determined to square up the Vancouver Island softball championship series with Hillcrest Lumber Company, of Duncan, at the Royal Athletic Park at 5:45 o'clock. The Up-Islanders captured the first battle on their home grounds last Sunday by a 14-12 score in one of the heaviest hitting games of the season. Lloyd Jones will most likely get Manager Shandley's call to start on the mound against the Hillcrest boys, with Jack Caddell completing the battery, while Elmer Evans may start for the visitors. Chuck Turner will be on hand in case Jones bumps into trouble. One of the largest crowds of the present season is expected to watch the fixture.

AL ETTORE SIGNS

CARDS LOSE MORE GROUND IN NATIONAL LEAGUE

Defeated Again By Boston Bees; Giants Triumph

St. Louis Falls Back Two and a Half Games Behind New York Squad as Merry Chase Continues for Pennant—Cubs Capture Double-Header To Creep Up Behind the Cardinals

NATIONAL LEAGUE

CINCINNATI, Aug. 26 (AP).—The New York Giants' winning streak reached fourteen straight today as Carl Hubbell set back the Reds, 6-5. The triumph was his nineteenth of the season and his ninth straight since his last defeat on July 13. The victory tightened the Giants' grip on first place in the National League, giving them their second straight win over the Reds. Staked to a four-run lead in the first inning, Hubbell had only to coast to victory, but the Reds, after pecking away at him for a run each in the first and sixth, landed with a barrage of base hits in the ninth to send two runs across. The tying run was on second, when "the Hub" forced one batter to fly out and the next to foul out to finish the game.

Bill Terry, New York's star, was the hero of the game, hitting a home run and driving in two runs. He also had a single and a walk. The Giants' lineup was: Outfield—Terry, Evers, and Clegg; Infield—Baker, Phillips, and Myatt; Pitcher—Hubbell. The Reds' lineup was: Outfield—Stine, Frey, and Lombard; Infield—Baker, Phillips, and Myatt; Pitcher—Hubbell.

Cards Stung Again

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 26 (AP).—The Boston Bees sank their stingers deep into the Cardinals again today, winning, 10-4, and placing St. Louis in a precarious position in the National League pennant race. The tying run was on second, when "the Hub" forced one batter to fly out and the next to foul out to finish the game.

Star Rookie Injured

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 26 (AP).—The Brooklyn Dodgers made it two straight over the Pirates, with a 10-3 victory today, but in winning the ball game they lost their star rookie outfielder, Eddie Wilson, who was badly injured by a pitched ball. One of Mace Brown's slants hit Wilson in the back of the head during a nine-run, game-clinching Dodger rally in the fifth and knocked the freshman fly-chaser unconscious.

A physician diagnosed his injury as a concussion and ordered his removal to a hospital for X-ray examination and observation.

Cubs Capture Pair

CHICAGO, Aug. 26 (AP).—The third-place Cubs bunched their hits today to take both ends of a double-header from the Philadelphia Phillies, 4 to 2 and 7 to 4, before 10,067 fans.

In the opener the Cubs combined five of their ten hits off Claude Passeau for all their four runs in the third inning.

An extra base hit attack, climaxed by consecutive doubles by Billy Herman, Frank Demaree and Stan Hack in the sixth inning, routed Joe Bowman in the ninth, and helped Larry French to his sixteenth triumph, although the Phillies out-hit the Cubs 11 to 9.

First Game—

Batteries—Bowman, Kowalik and Wilson; French and O'Dea.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

NEW YORK, Aug. 26 (AP).—A four-run attack in the fifth inning, featured by Beau Bell's triple with the bases loaded, enabled the St. Louis Browns to come from behind today and trounce the league-leading Yankees, 5 to 2.

Ivy Andrew held murderers' row to nine hits, one of them Frank

Crossetti's thirteenth homer of the year, to chalk up his sixth pitching victory.

Washington—020 010 20X—14 18 0
Batteries—Galehouse, Blaholder, Galatzer and George; Cascarella and Bolton.

Ferrell Blanks Tigers

BOSTON, Aug. 26 (AP).—Wes Ferrell, Red Sox pitching ace, rushed to the mound today at the start of the game with Detroit, pitched brilliant ball, shutting out the Tigers, 3 to 0, for his sixteenth win.

His teammates hit belligerently behind him, giving him staunch support.

COAST LEAGUE

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 26 (AP).—Dick Ward, returning to the mound after an attack of influenza, let Oakland down with three scattered hits in pitching the San Diego Padres to a 1-0 victory here this afternoon. It was Ward's tenth straight triumph and evened the series at one-half game.

A free-for-all thrashed when Umpire Ray Snyder called infielder Joe Gordon out on strikes for the final out in the ninth. The Oakland players crowded around Snyder and the fans invaded the diamond when infielder Leroy Anton, who had been ejected from the game, attempted to hit Ward. Penge soon was restored.

Missions Triumph

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 26 (AP).—The San Francisco Missions defeated the Sacramento Senators, 5-4, here today in a ten-inning contest. Today's victory made it two straight for the locals in the current series.

The Missions were one run behind when they came to bat in the last half of the ninth, but evened the count at four-all when Eddie Jost singled to score Johnson. They made the winning tally in the tenth inning on successive singles by Rosenberg, Mort and West.

Indians the Under

SEATTLE, Aug. 26 (AP).—Los Angeles hammered out a 10-4 win over the Seattle Indians tonight, taking the lead in the second inning and holding it to the route to square the series.

Both clubs punched a brace across in the first inning, but Pitcher Lou Koupal loaded the bases with Angels. In the second, Dmar scored on Gudis's fly to Lester and Meener drove Berry in with a single.

In the third, Joe Berry, Angels' starting pitcher, slackened and the tribe got his range. "Dutch" Lieber took the mound and halted the threat.

Posing Before the Gong

Posing for the cameraman just before the gong is Rex Carey, British Columbia welterweight champion; Matchmaker Louis Callan in the center, and on the right is Stoker Perth, of H.M.S. Apollo, welterweight titleholder of the West Indies squadron. Twice these lads met, the second time, when this picture was taken Monday night at the Royal Athletic Park, and twice the visiting sailor was awarded the judges' decision. Both battles were very close and, in the opinion of some of the ringiers, could have been declared draws. The bouts were staged under the direction of the Victoria Athletic Club and attracted large crowds.

Caster's impressive pitching record called to mind San Francisco's lowly Seals tonight as they knocked out a 4 to 1 victory over the league-leading Portland team.

The Seals reached Caster for eleven hits and all their runs before he retired for a pinch hitter in the seventh. Win Ballou pitched smart ball for San Francisco and received credit for the victory, although replaced by bad Sam Gibson, who wildness overtook him in the seventh.

Profit-Taking at New York Sends Prices Slipping

NEW YORK, Aug. 26 (AP)—The stock market machine slipped into reverse today as more profit-taking barriers appeared on the recovery route.

Transfers aggregated 907,170 shares against 799,930 yesterday.

The steel group led early improvement as iron age estimated output production at a new peak for the year and predicted promising results from mill operations over the next several weeks. At the same time, reports were heard of probable wage and price increases soon.

Bethlehem led a fractional gain at 43 1/2, while U.S. Steel common and preferred ended with slight losses at 63 3/4 and 138, respectively.

J. I. Case dropped 3 to 149 1/2. Others down 1 to 2 or so included General Motors at 64 1/4, Westinghouse at 120 1/2, International Harvester at 77 3/4, and American Can at 120 1/8.

Several U.S. Government securities reached new tops for 1936 before settling down.

The market for United States Government bonds leveled off a trifle today, following brisk activity and new high levels established on Tuesday.

Among Government issues reaching new peaks were Home Owners Loan 2 1/4's and 2 3/4's.

How It Started By JEAN NEWTON

CALLING A SPADE A SPADE

The light of history reveals frankness, bluntness, straightforward if not brusque speech to be an old world custom. The ancients as well as we moderns have had their manner of talking, their etiquette of conversation, their deplorable and metaphorically characterized. Thus, the colorful expression, "calling a spade a spade," an allusion to the omission of verbal embroidery is possibly twenty-three hundred years old—probably more. For it we are indebted to Philip of Macedonia, who, according to Plutarch, is quoted as describing his subjects in the words: "These Macedonians are a rude and clownish people, that call a spade a spade." "Gentlemen," said the retiring chairman, "I am indeed grateful for the kind praise which you have bestowed on my work as chairman during the past year. I can only say that I have done my best to steer a clear course between partiality on the one hand and impartiality on the other hand." Wife—I am writing to the landlord, dear, for a new range, a bath, and I also want the house repaired. To whom shall I address my letter? Husband—It's too late. You should have written to Santa Claus. For it we are indebted to Philip of Macedonia, who, according to Plutarch, is quoted as describing his subjects in the words: "These Macedonians are a rude and clownish people, that call a spade a spade." Jane Dixon Says:

OUR THOUGHTFUL FRIENDS ARE TO BE COMMENDED FOR THEIR INTEREST AND HELP IN REGARD TO THE PROBLEMS OF SANDRA, "UNHAPPY" AND THE FATHER OF FOUR

Today we shall allow some of the readers of this column to write it for us. Extracts from letters have to do with problems lately discussed. Our thoughtful friends are to be commended for their interest and their help.

For Sandra G.—"My own experience is exactly like yours in every detail. My stepfather and I fell in love, knowing my mother's happiness depended upon him. We thought we were the only persons in the world to be in such a tangle. In our case we found it was impossible to live in the same house without disclosing our love. It was a force over which we had no control. We were magnets, irresistibly drawn to one another. So we parted. I went away. Separation has not destroyed our love, but has made of it a splendid, shining thing. We could not buy our happiness by breaking the heart of a respected and beloved parent. Happiness cannot be found that way."

"It was not easy to part—we are both young, loving deeply and passionately. But we've kept our love sacred, have never cheapened or sullied it. Put distance between you and your loved one, Sandra. Make your life a magnificent gesture. Time, the greatest healer of all, may not dull your pain, but you are young and some other man will love you, for you will be well worth loving. I do not regret my own experience. It has made a better woman of me just to know and love the one who is more to me than all others."—H.A.L.

THE ROD AND THE TYRANT

For Father of Four—"Do you realize what a tyrant you are making of yourself? What a pity the Bible is not clearer regarding such phrases as 'spare the rod.' It gives the tyrant the impression he can inflict his ugly temper on hapless victims over whom he has authority. That is what you are doing to your sixteen and seventeen-year-old daughters. Sincerely A."

More for Father of Four—"I was shocked at reading the account of the thrashings administered in such a way to your two young daughters, who by now, I trust, have consulted their family physician as to the physical and moral results of such treatment. Before me, on a calendar, is a quotation from Baron. Severity breeds fear but roughness breeds hate. Even reproofs from authority should be grave and calm. In the light of present day psychology we know that a child, or even a grown person for the matter of that, can change from a normal being into a sulky or even a stupid individual under cruel and unjust discipline. —E.J.

For "Unhappy"—"Any woman who would be willing to wreck a friends home is unworthy of thought. We have such persons in our neighborhood, too. They are the most selfish creatures on earth and a menace to society. Here's a verse for you. Repeat it when your trouble seems more than you can bear."

"I can't get over, it's too high
I can't get under, it's too low
There's no way round
I must come in at the door!"

—"One Who Knows Bitterness."

More for "Unhappy"—"It seems to me the wisest thing for you to do is to separate from the husband you do not love, move away from the neighborhood, and leave the other woman's husband alone. If you have children try to make a go of your marriage as it is. You must have known before you married that you did not love the man who became your husband. You should have been square enough to wait until the right man came along. You will never find happiness by trying to make others pay for your mistakes. —E.H.M."
